West Berlin Rejects Reds' Offer On Wall

Brand Reopening For Holidays As 'Political Tool'

MONROE, Germany (AP)— West Germany has rejected an East German offer to reopen the Berlin wall for Easter and Whitsun holiday visits and accused the Communist of using the issue as a political tool to keep Germany divided.

The West German government and the West Berlin Senate announced jointly Friday they had turned down a proposal for temporary renewal of the agreement that allowed about 500,000 West Berliners to visit relatives in East Berlin one day passes at Christmas time.

OPENING DATES

East Germany had offered to reopen the wall on the same basis on Easter, March 29, and Whitsun, May 17. It would have been the second chance for families in the divided city to get together since Communists built the wall in August 1961.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government and the West Berlin Senate, charged the East German regime with misusing the Christmas pass agreement for political purposes.

"The administrative agreement on visits to East Berlin during the past Christmas period resulted exclusively from humanitarian considerations. Despite this, the Communist side, after the conclusion of the agreement, sought with all means to make political capital out of it," the West German statement said Friday.

"The East German Communist Politburo made demands in this connection that, if they were fulfilled, would have interfered deeply with the political life of Berlin and the freedom of its citizens. The government and the Senate of Berlin object energetically against such political misuse."

U.S. Lays Plan For Halting Aid To Cuba Sellers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration has drafted plans to carry out a congressional directive halting aid to any nation whose ships or planes carry goods to Communist Cuba.

Informed sources confirmed this Friday but government officials indicated they are under strict orders not to discuss details of the planned move pending an official announcement, presumably Saturday.

The congressional mandate written into the latest foreign aid bill, set for midnight Friday as a deadline for affected governments to take appropriate action to keep their ships and planes from flying to Cuba.

A State Department spokesman, Richard L. Phillips, said the matter now is under study and "final decisions" will be made on a case-by-case basis.

He noted that the law extends to the President authority to continue U.S. help if he finds it is "important to the security of the United States."

Phillips told newsmen that of 16 countries listed as having sent ships or planes to Cuba only six are receiving U.S. aid and only three of these—Greece, Turkey and Morocco—are getting any sizable assistance.

The more active traders with Cuba—such as Canada, Great Britain, Japan, France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Sweden, Belgium and Luxembourg—receive no U.S. aid.

Such countries as Greece and Turkey hold important roles in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and it is possible that security conditions might lead the President to decide that a complete cutoff of aid to them might do more harm than good.

Absentee Votes Are Cast Here

Twenty-three ballots were cast Thursday and Friday at the Ouachita Parish courthouse as absentee voting for the March 3 general election got underway.

Carter Cozart, chief deputy clerk for Ouachita Parish, said the absentee voting began at 8 a.m. Thursday and will continue from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Feb. 8 except on Saturdays.

Saturdays, ballots can be cast for the general election from 8 a.m. until 12 noon in the courthouse basement. A sign in the lobby of the courthouse directs voters to the basement. Cozart pointed out.

Soviets Interview Russian Defector

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet secret police defector Yuri I. Nosenko told Soviet and Swiss representatives in Washington on Friday that he wants political asylum in the United States, the State Department announced.

Press officer Richard L. Phillips said Nosenko's request will be granted. His disappearance from the Soviet disarmament delegation in Geneva on Feb. 4 created a cold war sensation.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko accused the United States of "improper behavior" in the Nosenko case.
He delivered a stiff oral protest to U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler in Moscow earlier in the day.

GRANTS ASYLUM

But the U.S. government went ahead with its plans to grant asylum to the 36-year-old Russian who is reputed to be a staff officer of the Soviet secret police, the KGB. His ostensible assignment in Geneva was as a junior member of the Soviet delegation to the international conference there.

The State Department finally cleared up the mystery of Nos-

he is now in the United States

Romans Wary Of Milk Bottles

ROME (UPI)—Rome milk drinkers are growing wary of what they may find in the next day's bottle.

In the last week milk cartons and bottles have poured out cigarettes, tangerine seeds, razor blades and the equivalent of a glass of water.

Authorities at the municipal milk center, whose products were involved in all cases, said their mechanical bottling and packing plants eliminated all possibility of foreign objects slipping into the containers.

There was some speculation of sabotage on the part of competitors, as there was in Nap-

SILENT ON SUICIDE

Lie Detector Test Clears War Bride

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—A lie test exonerated a war bride and former inmate of a concentration camp who nearly went to prison for murder rather than admit that her husband committed suicide.

State's Atty. John M. Karns
Jr. and Friday that Mrs. Paula Beier, 25, Czechoslovakian war bride who once was sentenced to 14 years in prison, was cleared of all complicity in the fatal shooting of her husband.

Karns said the three-hour lie test "left no doubt whatsoever" that the brunette housewife told the truth when she finally admitted, one and one-half years ago, that she had shot him.

Mrs. Beier, a devout Roman Catholic, wanted to protect her husband from the stigma of suicide, she explained. She kept the secret until two weeks ago when she told the truth. She said she had shot him because he was a coward and a traitor.

Judge Denies Ruby Trial Dallas Shift

Jury Empanelling To Begin Monday As True Survey

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The judge ruled Friday that Jack Ruby must go on trial in Dallas on Monday for the murder of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin.

Dist. Judge Joe E. Brown said he still might move the trial to another Texas city, as the defense has demanded—but first the lawyers must try to find 12 impartial jurors here. That will be the true test of whether Ruby can get a fair trial in Dallas, Brown said.

BELLI CONVINCED

Chief defense attorney Melvin Belli said he still is convinced Ruby cannot get a fair trial in Dallas and that he might spend an entire day questioning a single prospective juror.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he was pleased with the decision.

In ruling that Ruby's trial must begin Monday, Judge Brown said he was withholding a final ruling on the defense motion to transfer the case.

Selection of jurors will begin at 9 a.m. Monday in the courtroom of Judge Frank Wilson.
Judge Brown will preside.

Judge Wilson's courtroom will seat more than 200 persons.
Judge Brown's only 62.

Ruby is charged with murder in the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, the professed Marxist charged with assassinating
President Kennedy here on Nov.
22.

Ruby, 32, a balding strip joint operator, stepped out of a crowd of newsmen as Oswald was be-of temporary insanity brought dent's death.

Young Sinatra Tells Of Caution For Policeman

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra Jr. testified Friday he did not cry out to a policeman who had stopped the car of his alleged abductor because he did not want the officer's death on his conscience.

The remark came during cross-examination by Gladys Towles Root, counsel for one of the three men accused of kidnaping young Sinatra from Lake Tahoe, last Dec. 8.

"Is it not true, Mr. Sinatra, asked Mrs. Root, "that you did not want to see anybody?" Sinatra: "That is true, I did

Sinatra: "Because Mrs. Root, the number one man stated before we came to the roadblock, that there was going to be some shooting. I did not want a sudden and idiotic move to cause this man who was stupid enough to kidnap me to voluntarily blow the brains out of this officer."

"I did not want to have on my conscience the death of an innocent bystander."

where he worked part-time while stationed at Scott Air

Karns and Beier shot himself in the neck while he and his wife struggled for the gun Mrs.
Beier was slightly wounded.

"Don't tell this to anyone," Karns quoted Beier as telling his wife before he died at a

WEST GERMAN CHANCELLOR Ludwig Erhard salutes as he stands with French President Charles de Gaulle in Elysee Palace, Paris, following the first of several meetings planned. Er-

Erhard, De Gaulle Hold Talks

PARIS (UPI)—President
Charles de Gaulle assured
West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in talks here Friday that France remains a loyal member of the Western Alliance, a German spokesman said.

De Gaulle told Erhard during a day of talks that France's recognition of Communist China was in no way meant to damage the alliance, the spokesman said.

FRENCH FIRM

He quoted the French leader as saying that France is firmly attached to the Western Alliance, even though its ideas
on how it should be directed
and made more effective differ from those of other member countries.

There was no confirmation of this reported assurance by De Gaulle from the French side.

French sources merely confirmed that the Atlantic Alliance, China, Southeast Asia,
Latin America, European political unity, the European Common Market and the forthcoming "Kennedy round" of tariff-cutting talks with the United States were among the subjects discussed.

Hits Critics Seeking Gain; Asks Honesty

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—
President Johnson, swinging away in the heart of America at critics at home and abroad who may seek political gain from baseless denunciation
of the United States.

But Johnson also welcomed
what he called "star denunciations of honest difference" both at home and abroad. From it, he said, freedom prospered.

MINERS RESTLESS

And in a city where civil rights advocates are restless,
the President declared that Americans must choose a progress or a decline, and that "we cannot secure the success of freedom around the world if it is not secure for all citizens in our cities."

The stage for the presidential address was a banquet inaugurating a two-year celebration of the 200th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis. All the tickets had been snapped up for this event, that launched St.
Louis into its third century.

Johnson's speech was the capstone of a presidential schedule that listed a visit to the partly constructed 630-foot, gateway arch beside the Mississippi look at a new industrial complex and a stop at St. Louis University to plant a tree and talk to the students. Mrs. Johnson remained in Washington.

In his prepared speech, John-

past, at the present, and into the future.

we celebrate it proudly," he said. "But America is the land
of tomorrow, not yesterday."

Demonstrators March On LBJ Hotel, Arrested

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Police interrupted a mass march
of civil rights demonstrators Friday night as they headed toward the hotel where President
Johnson was making a speech to open St. Louis' 200th birthday celebration.

Leaders of the St. Louis Com-

affiliate of the Congress of Racial Equality, had indicated earlier they planned some kind of a demonstration. This, said CORE Midwest field representative Eugene Tournour, would point up racial unrest in St.
Louis.

Many of the CORE demonstrators arrested Friday night
were on probation from convictions of contempt of court growing out of earlier demonstrations.

Police Judge Rodney Weiss,
had met with them Friday and told them they could demonstrate in a limited and peaceful manner, but no violence could be used. He said they must be peaceful.

Police apparently had not planned on anything like a mass march of the 50 or more persons who moved on the hotel
from nearby Forest Park.

About 40 others, uniformed and in plainclothes, moved in
and surrounded the group. The demonstrators went smoothly. With no resistance, the demonstrators were loaded into police vans and taken to the police station where they were held for general questioning.

Erhard, De Gaulle Hold Talks

PARIS (UPI)—President
Charles de Gaulle assured
West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in talks here Friday that France remains a loyal member of the Western Alliance, a German spokesman
said.

De Gaulle told Erhard during a day of talks that France's recognition of Communist China was in no way meant to damage the alliance, the spokesman said.

FRENCH FIRM

He quoted the French leader as saying that France is firmly attached to the Western Alliance, even though its ideas
on how it should be directed
and made more effective differ
from those of other member countries.

There was no confirmation of this reported assurance by De Gaulle from the French side.

French sources merely confirmed that the Atlantic alliance, China, Southeast Asia,
Latin America, European political unity, the European Common Market and the forthcoming "Kennedy round" of tariff
cutting talks with the United States were among the subjects
discussed.

Soviets Want To Copy West

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Pre-

he told his Communist party Central Committee. "Vladimir

a shame to learn from the capitalists."

He spoke at a special meet-agricultural specialists.

U.S. May Drop 1 Of 4 Charges Against Hoffa

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—
The government asked Friday to drop one of four charges of jury-tampering against Teamsters Union President
James R. Hoffa—several hours after completing prosecution at his trial.

Special Prosecutor James Neal asked the judge to direct acquittal of Hoffa on a charge that he aided a Nashville sandwich maker, Lawrence Medlin—who is accused of offering a $10,000 bribe to a juror in Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial.

Medlin was one of six persons indicted with Hoffa last May on the jury-tampering charge, but he will be tried separately.
Therefore, the judge would not let the juror in question testify about Medlin's alleged bribe offer—restricting him to testimony designed to back up previous witnesses.

Because of this, Neal said,
"the government will have to take a judgment of acquittal."

The judge took this request under advisement, along with motions by defense attorneys that he ordered immediate acquittals for Hoffa and the other five who are on trial here with him. Three charges remain against Hoffa and one each against the other five.

Beatle Buttons Go; Lasses End Strike

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—
They are not forgotten, certainly not by one of the Milne factory workers, 15-year-old Nan Reid.

Nan came to work Thursday wearing a big picture of guitarist George Harrison pinned to her working smock.

"I have nothing against the Beatles," said boss John Milne,
"but wearing that photograph is a contravention of the National Factory Safety Act. It might get caught in the machinery and pull you in with it. It will have to go."

"I am loyal to the Beatles, especially George, and I am not going to let him down," retorted Nan. "If the photo goes, I go."

Out walked Nan. The other 39 girls followed and chanting,
"yeah, yeah, yeah," they all paraded to the local headquarters of the Transport and General Workers Union. There they had a talk with Dan Chisholm, local agent for the union.

Having hoarsened the voices of teen age screamers all over the British Isles they now are the United States. Though gone,

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—
President Johnson swung away in the heart of America at critics at home and abroad who may "seek political gain from baseless denunciation
of the United States."

But Johnson also welcomed
what he called "fair discussion
of honest difference" both at home and abroad. From it, he said, freedom prospers.

MIXERS RESTLESS

And, in a city where civil rights advocates are restless,
the President declared that Americans "must choose progress or decay," and that "we cannot secure the success of freedom around the world if it is not secure for all citizens in
our cities."

The stage for the presidential address was a banquet inaugurating a two year celebration of
the 200th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis. All the
tickets had been snapped up for this event, that launched St.
Louis into its third century.

Johnson's speech was the
capstone of a presidential schedule that listed a visit to the
partly constructed 630 foot, gateway arch beside the Mississippi,
a look at a new industrial complex, and a stop at St. Louis University to plant a tree and talk to the students. Mrs. Johnson remained in Washington.

In his prepared speech, Johnson looked back through the past, at the present, and into the future.

"We cherish our past — and we celebrate it proudly," he
of tomorrow, not yesterday."

lems that face the nation and

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Police interrupted a mass march
of civil rights demonstrators Friday night as they headed toward the hotel where President
Johnson was making a speech
to open St. Louis' 200th birthday celebration.

Leaders of the St. Louis Committee on Racial Equality, an affiliate of the Congress of Racial Equality, had indicated earlier they planned some kind of demonstration. This, said CORE Midwest field representative Eugene Tournour, would point up racial unrest in St.
Louis.

Many of the CORE demonstrators arrested Friday night
were on probation from convictions of contempt of court growing out of earlier demonstrations.

Police Judge Rodney Weiss,
had met with them Friday and Tuesday. He had told them they could demonstrate in a limited and peaceful manner—pickets, for instance would have to be six feet apart.

But police apparently had not planned on anything like a mass
march of the 80 or more persons who moved on the hotel
from nearby Forest Park.

About 40 officers, uniformed and in plainclothes, moved in
and surrounded the group. The arrests went smoothly. With no resistance, the demonstrators were herded into police vans and trucks. They were taken to police headquarters where Capt. Robert Matteson said they would be booked for general peace disturbance.

Does Louisiana have a right to work law covering right to work? If it does, please explain what the "right to work" law means and covers.

Right to work law: Is the union shop? That is, can a union member be fired if he does not work for the union? When union men sign a contract with management in a non-union shop, they are not bound to work for the union. When right to work is in effect, neither labor nor management can force union membership as a condition of employment.

Since the G.I. loan bill expired in Jan., 1955, are veterans who entered service during the period since Jan. 31, 1955, eligible for any loan assistance? A bill has been introduced in Congress. I understand that it would cover "old war" veterans. If so, what is its status?

The local Veterans Service Office says that anyone entering military service after Jan. 31, 1955, is not currently eligible for any loan benefits. There is a "Cold War" education bill pending in Congress but it has not gotten far.

Why do we have to file Louisiana state income tax returns? Louisiana law requires that state returns be filed, just as the federal government does. However, rates are not so high.

Although a will can be written by hand, a local legal authority advises that the manner of writing a will is of such serious importance that no person should attempt to write a will without competent legal counsel.

As applied to present day politics in the United States, the "right wing" calls for an application of constitutional principles and fundamentals, while the "left wing" calls for varying degrees of change to accommodate world and domestic developments.

Is there a courthouse in Natchez, Miss.? Would a couple 62 and 65 need a birth certificate to get married in Mississippi? Would the couple have to have a medical certificate in Mississippi to get married? Could a marriage there be kept secret?

Yes, there is a courthouse in Natchez. Natchez is Adams County seat. A birth certificate, although not entirely necessary in Mississippi, is desired. In lieu of a birth certificate, the couple would be asked to show legal proof of their ages. A driver's license or similar document would suffice. A medical certificate would be necessary. It is possible to keep the marriage a secret since marriage records are not published in the Natchez paper. However, if someone wanted to go to the courthouse and examine the records, they could not be withheld.

When a person is convicted of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, is the record ever wiped clean by several years of good driving habits? Explain a little about such matters.

Officials of the Monroe police department advise that once a person acquires a DWI record, he keeps it. The conviction is kept on file by the police department. The only exception is the police record of a juvenile, which is kept, but not made public.

Is Wood Street in the block next to St. Francis Hospital a one-way or two-way street? If that particular block is a two-way street, why aren't signs posted indicating that fact?

Monroe police traffic officials answer that the portion of Wood Street in question is a two-way street because of the hospital construction now underway. It will revert to a one-way street when Oak Street is re-opened to traffic.

There is no sign there for the same reason there is no sign on Louisville Avenue — any street not designated as one-way is naturally assumed to be two-way.

Do off duty officers have the authority to give citations to violators when not in uniform and not in a city vehicle?

Monroe police officials report that policemen are unofficially on duty 24 hours a day and have the authority to issue citations when not in uniform, although this is not a customary practice.

Why don't the police pick up dogs on Clayton Street in West Monroe that bark all night and chase cars? Officials of the West Monroe police department report that they have received no complaints on dogs on Clayton Street. Upon receipt of an official complaint, police officers determine whether action is necessary.

MAO'S REVOLT BLUEPRINT

Congolese Bands Use Chinese Plans

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — Fanatic Kwilu warriors of the "reactionary" Congolese in possession of a Congo region army, befriended the local population half the size of Belgium are in, and maintain iron discipline within the guerrilla ranks. Blueprint for revolt based on austere self discipline, psychological warfare and a dash of sex.

The crudely armed guerrilla fighters are led by Pierre Mulele, 34, a Peking trained former education minister of the Congo. For the past month they have been burning and killing in once prosperous Kwilu Province.

Captured orders from Mulele, just published here, include eight commandments of guerrilla warfare closely paraphrasing Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse tung's "eight points," which were the words of a Chinese Red army marching song.

Keystones of Mulele's orders:

Wallace Hints

At Shutting Two

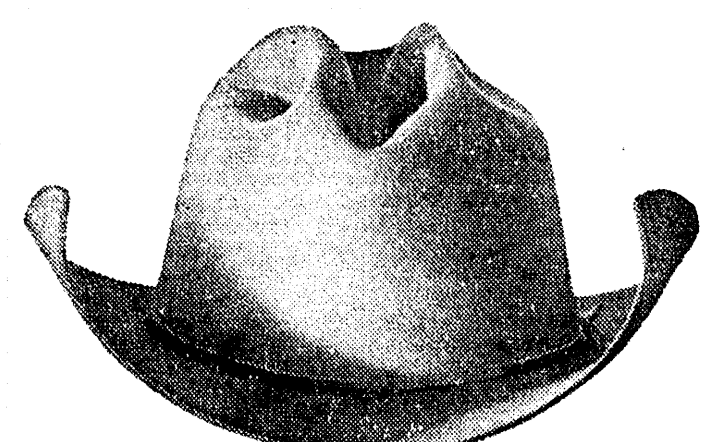

Mixed Schools

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama hinted Friday that high schools at Natasulga and Shorter, Ala., boycotted by white students while integrated by a total of 12 Negroes, might be closed for reasons of economy.

"You can't keep schools open with six students in each school and about 10 teachers," he told a news conference picketed by Chicago civil rights demonstrators. "It's pretty uneconomical."

Wallace told newsmen "It remains to be seen" whether the schools will shut down.

Six Negroes entered previously all-white Macon County High School at Natasulga under the eyes of state troopers Friday. The entire white student body boycotted classes.

"Have you tried this Yellowstone Whiskey they're talking about?"

One drink of Yellowstone and a friend tells a friend. That's how the word gets around.

Yellowstone is known as the Greatest American Whiskey. Probably got this handle because of its historic association with the Old West.

It's made by an exclusive process called Mellow-Mash. This gives Yellowstone a gentle lightness, yet a rich and most pleasing flavor—that's right, no bite!

There's something about Yellowstone that's causing a quiet move to this unusually fine Kentucky Bourbon.

6 Negroes Enter Natasulga School

NATASULGA, Ala. (AP) — A spreading boycott there has let the Shorter school, like the one at Natasulga, deserted except for the white teachers and Negro pupils.

Three and a half hours later they were dismissed for the day with the explanation that their first day a school was taken up with orientation.

For the fifth day in a row, all white pupils boycotted the high school. Most of them transferred to a white private school in Tuskegee.

A white faculty remained in Natasulga, with only six pupils in a school whose normal enrollment is 171.

As the Negroes stepped off a county owned bus, and walked into the building, Mayor James Rea watched from across the street. He was prohibited by federal court order from turning the Negroes away as he did last week.

Rea invoked a newly enacted fire safety ordinance in blocking the Negroes in their first appearance Feb. 5. U. S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. handed down an injunction on Thursday preventing the mayor from further use of that ordinance or any other to interfere with the integration.

The fire prevention ordinance empowered Rea to limit the number of persons in any public building. He told the Negro pupils that the school was crowded to safety capacity.

Johnson called the law a subterfuge to perpetuate school segregation.

At another Macon County school, Shorter High, six other Negroes were in class again, but once more, no white pupils showed up.

Does Louisiana have a "right to work" law? Please explain what the "right to work" law means and covers.

Louisiana does not have a right to work law on the books. There was a state law covering right to work but it was repealed during the administration of Gov. Earl K. Long.

Right to work laws outlaw the union shop. That is, union membership cannot be made compulsory to hold a job in a right to work state. When unions sign a contract with management in a non-right to work state, such as Louisiana, then in order to work in that shop, a man must join the union. When right to work is in effect, neither labor nor management can force union membership as a condition of employment.

Is it legal in Louisiana for a person to write his will in his own handwriting? If so, what is the correct wording and is there any special order in which to list bequests?

Some people seem to think that blood that gives life to an infant comes from the mother, and some think it comes from the father. What are the latest scientific facts on the matter?

The first blood corpuscles of embryo (later to become the infant) are manufactured in the yolk sac within the mother during an early stage of pregnancy.

This blood may, or may not be, the same blood type as the mother, or father, but because the mother's blood supplies the yolk sac with materials to form the fetal blood we would define this as "life" blood and it consequently would come from the mother.

The mother is able to supply the embryo and later the fetal blood with nourishment without mixing of the mother's blood and blood of the forming infant through a highly minute screening process through capillaries (minute blood vessels) and villi (fingerlike vessels). If the maternal and fetal blood were to mix it would be physiologically highly undesirable and possibly fatal to both mother and fetus.

The blood type in the developing infant during pregnancy is determined by hereditary factors in the chromosomes and their combinations. The child may possess the mother's blood type, the father's, or neither, depending again, upon chromosome combinations.

If a wife operates a cafe and her husband runs a filling station, is it legal for the wife to sign her name of her husband's name on insurance papers on the filling station without his consent?

This answer would depend on whether or not the property in question is separate property or property belonging to the community of assets and gains. We recommend consulting a lawyer.

We have a lawsuit against a man who swindled us three years ago. Is there any way we can find out if it has been put off legally for so long and if our lawyer is absolutely honest? If we feel that he isn't, can we change lawyers "in the middle of the stream"?

A person has the right to change lawyers at any stage of a proceeding by making such settlement with him as the law requires. We recommend that you consult a reputable attorney for the rest of the question.

Congolese Bands Use Chinese Plans

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo are to exploit every weakness of the "reactionary" Congolese army, befriend the local population, and maintain iron discipline within the guerrilla ranks.

While Mulele's men are themselves forbidden to "amuse themselves" with women, the rebels are instructed to try to tempt Congolese army sentries with girls.

All borrowed property must be promptly returned and nothing must be taken without payment.

Mulele also exhorts his men to try to convert the villagers. Mulele commands his men to make every effort to seize weapons from the soldiers. His revolt has few modern automatic arms.

Most of Mulele's men carry bows and poisoned arrows, spears and knives. Some have homemade smooth bore muskets.

Mulele's men have suffered scores of casualties in suicidal headlong assaults against the towns of Gungu and Idiofa. Young warriors have charged at the muzzles of guns that mowed them down.

Mulele also exhorts his men not to leave wounded guerrillas behind to fall into enemy hands. Despite this order, several hundred guerrilla fighters have been captured.

U.S. marshals, accompanied by Justice Department attorney Joan Doar, maintained a watch near the Natasulga school throughout the morning. FBI agents also were on duty along with state troopers and Natasulga police.

Three and a half hours later they were dismissed for the day with the explanation that their first day a school was taken up with orientation.

For the fifth day in a row, all white pupils boycotted the high school. Most of them transferred to a white private school in Tuskegee.

A white faculty remained in Natasulga, with only six pupils in a school whose normal enrollment is 174.

As the Negroes stepped off a county owned bus and walked into the building, Mayor James Rea watched from across the street. He was prohibited by federal court order from turning the Negroes away as he did last week.

Rea invoked a newly enacted fire safety ordinance in blocking the Negroes in their first appearance Feb. 5. U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. handed down an injunction on Thursday preventing the mayor from further use of that ordinance or any other to interfere with the integration.

The fire prevention ordinance empowered Rea to limit the number of persons in any public building. He told the Negro pupils that the school was crowded to safety capacity.

Johnson called the law a subterfuge to perpetuate school segregation.

At another Macon County school, Shorter High, six other Negroes were in class again, but once more, no white pupils showed up.

One drink of Yellowstone and a friend tells a friend. That's how the word gets around.

Yellowstone is known as the Greatest American Whiskey. Probably got this handle because of its historic association with the Old West.

It's made by an exclusive process called Mellow-Mash. This gives Yellowstone a gentle lightness, yet a rich and most pleasing flavor—that's right, no bite!

There's something about Yellowstone that's causing a quiet move to this unusually fine Kentucky Bourbon.

U.S. Output Remains At High Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production remained at a high level in January, with increased output of television sets and other household goods offsetting a slight lag in automobile assemblies, the Federal Reserve Board said Friday.

The Federal Reserve's index was 127.1 in January compared to 127.0 in December. This means that the nation's output from factories, mines and utilities was 27.1 per cent higher in January than the average in 1957-59.

The index has remained stable over the past six months. It now stands about half a point higher than the July figure.

Production of iron and steel continued to rise in January, the board said, and preliminary reports for this month show a still further advance in production.

Despite the slight dropoff from the high December rate of a 1.6 million production, the number of cars rolling off the assembly lines was still 8 per cent above January 1963.

The board said there was a considerable stepup in the manufacture of furniture and rugs during the month.

In other areas of the economy the board said there was little change in construction activity and retail sales.

New construction was measured at an annual rate of $66 billion, about the same as November and December and about 10 per cent higher than a year ago.

Public construction rose slightly after a 3 per cent dip in December.

The board noted further increases in the money supply, and in time and savings deposits at commercial banks.

In general there has been little change in the prices of basic industrial commodities since Jan. 1. However, the report said there have been sharp price changes in some food stuffs.

Coffee prices declined after rising about 20 per cent in late December, and there have been declines in cocoa and sugar.

Writer-Professor

Hanged In Effigy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Prof. Revilo P. Oliver, who wrote an article in a John Birch Society publication criticizing the late President Kennedy, was hanged in effigy Friday on the University of Illinois campus.

Oliver is a professor of classics at the university and had been criticized in the student newspaper, the Illini, for his story.

A sign attached to the figure, made of pajamas and pillows, said, "Oliver hung (sic) by a Birch."

Oliver's article said the late President Kennedy was assassinated because he "fell behind in a Communist timetable" for the takeover of the United States.

Sales Increase

Fails To Defray

Studebaker Loss

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Studebaker Corp. reported Friday a whopping $16.92 million loss for 1963 compared with earnings of $489,460 plus a non-recurring profit of $2 million in 1962.

The big loss occurred in spite of a $38 million increase in sales to $403.31 million.

President Ryers A. Burlingame said the directors had authorized a $64 million special charge against 1963 income to cover losses involved in liquidating the South Bend automobile division and moving the auto production to Canada.

Burlingame said the non-automotive divisions of Studebaker had operated profits before taxes of $11 million for the year, and the company would operate solidly in the black for the first quarter of 1964.

Burlingame said any profit made this year and for the next several years will not be subject to federal taxes because of the huge tax loss carry forward from Studebaker's South Bend automotive operations.

He said book worth of the company at the end of 1963 was $36.72 million.

Sales for the final quarter of 1963 were $100.68 million with a loss of $7.09 million compared with $114.59 million with operating earnings of $7.05 million in 1962.

bigwigs. They also stirred sharp concern in West Germany.

The deaths of Dr. Werner Heyde, who hanged himself with a belt in prison Thursday, and Friedrich Tillmann, who plunged from an eighth floor window in Cologne the day before, brought from Fritz Bauer, the Hesse state prosecutor, a charge that some kind of conspiracy was involved.

Both men were to go on trial next week in Limburg on charges of carrying out Hitler's program for killing 200,000 persons as mental and physical defectives.

Backing up Bauer, Karl Heinz Zinnal, the prosecutor of the case, asserted: "I suspect there are many doctors who are interested that their names and work during the Third Reich do not become public property."

Reflecting the concern, the widely read Hamburg paper, Die Welt, commented: "It remains to be checked whether unfortunate 'accidents' or carelessness of the judicial authorities should be blamed when people who have been accused of the most serious crimes are able to escape their judgment."

Justice Minister Lauritz Lauritzen of the State of Hesse said there would be an investigation to see if there was any laxity by prison officials in Heyde's case.

Historians generally agreed that Hitler shot himself in the air raid shelter under his Berlin office April 30, 1945. Joseph Goebbels, his propaganda minister, also died the next day. The building was under heavy firing from Soviet forces, who captured it soon afterward.

Heinrich Himmler, the Nazis' top policeman, bit into a poison capsule May 24 when he was recognized by the British despite his ordinary soldier's uniform.

More than a year afterward Marshal Herman Goering, long Hitler's No. 2 man, poisoned himself just before he was to be hanged. He had been condemned by the international war crimes tribunal.

Some of those connected with the killing of defectives also chose suicide in those days.

State Teamster Allowed Return To Baton Rouge

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A Louisiana Teamsters official was told he could go home to Baton Rouge Friday if he will send back records requested by James R. Hoffa's lawyers.

The records are for defense use in the International Teamsters president's jury-tampering trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson made the ruling in regard to a second defense subpoena issued for Donice Bennett, president of Baton Rouge Local 5, and union records affecting Edward G. Partin, local business manager.

Partin wound up his testimony as the government's chief witness against Hoffa last Wednesday. The defense says it wants to use the Baton Rouge records to try to show that he lied in linking Hoffa with alleged efforts to fix his 1962 conspiracy trial jury in Nashville.

Wilson dismissed the first subpoena, which asked for all local records, as covering too much territory. The defense then issued a revised subpoena, which Bennett asked to be modified further.

The judge said Friday that unless Hoffa's lawyers objected, Bennett could return home, mail the records back—and be subject to call later by the defense.

His lawyer, William P. Hutcheson of Chattanooga, said Bennett has remained in Chattanooga — despite complaints by Hoffa's lawyers to the court that he had left town.

"They never once asked me where he was," Hutcheson said.

SILENT BEFORE JURY

Cosa Nostra Family Present 'Clam Act'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thomas (Three-Finger Brown) Luchese and five members of his Cosa Nostra family ran the count of silent witnesses to 31 Friday when they invoked the "clam act" in appearances here before a federal grand jury seeking to break the national crime syndicate.

Luchese led members of his gang in pleading possible self-incrimination and refusing to answer the jury's questions about gambling, narcotics, loan-sharking and other illegal activities. Luchese, 63, is reputed boss of Cosa Nostra's garment center operation.

The appearances of Luchese and his cohorts completed the first phase of U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau's drive against the heart of the hoodlum empire centered in the New York area. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy flew to New York Thursday for a briefing on the New York grand jury work.

Luchese and his associates were taken before the jury by William M. Tandy, assistant U.S. attorney in charge of narcotics prosecutions and the Luchese investigation. Federal prosecutors hope to obtain a criminal conspiracy indictment against certain members of the syndicate.

Luchese and the others were given 5 to 15 minutes each to answer the jury's questions. Later they were told to return March 6. In this connection, Tandy said, "there have been some very interesting developments this last week outside the jury room."

Newsman interpreted this to mean the government was getting cooperation from hoodlums in jail or some one who had not been subpoenaed to appear before the jury.

None of the 31 witnesses has been offered immunity from prosecution in exchange for testimony. But informed sources said that between now and March 2, when the jury sits

New Officers Elected By Farm Bureau

The Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau elected new officers and Board of Director members and endorsed the proposed Ellender Cotton Program bill being discussed by the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday night.

Fred Huenefeld Jr., newly elected board member from Ward 10, said endorsement of Sen. Allen Ellender's proposed bill came after a discussion by the bureau of all four proposed cotton bills before the Senate Agriculture committee. The group decided Ellender's bill was the best for the cotton industry, and voted to wire Ellender to push his bill before the committee.

The action was taken by the Farm Bureau in their annual policy setting and officer election meeting held in the Agri-culture building in West Monroe.

New officers elected and in stalled include Lloyd Coon, of Ward 5, Calhoun, president; Eldon Arnold, Ward 2, vice president, and Travis Howard, Ward 5, secretary-treasurer. New officers elected to the Ladies Farm Bureau Committee include Mrs. Bea Rhymes, president, Mrs. Paul Ransom, vice president, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr., secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Ruz Wadill, reporter.

Elected to serve on the Board of Director in addition to Huenefeld were J. A. Moore, ward 1; Drew Anderson 2; Cecil Mc Mullen, 3; W. A. Calloway, 4; Bill Watson, 5; J. C. Taylor, 6; Webb O. Roberts, 7; James Larche, 8; and W. E. Jones, 9. Board of Directors members at large were Lester Avant, Elton Upshaw, T. W. Humphries and Joe Dixon.

During the policy development when the Ellender bill was endorsed, the group discussed the Cadeby Bill, the Talmadge Bill and the so-called Administration cotton bill.

Direct Contradiction

The winds of politics blow strong. President Johnson's attitude towards civil rights today has mellowed to the point of contradicting his own position in this matter as stated in 1948.

At that time, Mr. Johnson was seeking the post of U. S. Senator from Texas. His remarks on the civil rights measures of the day read as follows:

"This civil rights program is a farce and a sham—an effort to set up a police state in the guise of liberty. I am opposed to that program. I fought it in Congress. It is in the province of the State to run its own elections. I am opposed to the anti-lynching bill because the federal government has no more business enacting a law against one form of murder than another. I am against FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) because if a man can tell you whom to hire, he can tell you whom you cannot employ. I have met this head on."

As late as 1957, Mr. Johnson's views on civil rights took the same direction. At that time he wrote a letter to a constituent of Representative Joel T. Broyhill of Virginia, stating:

"I do not know where you could have gotten the idea that I am supporting the so-called bill for civil rights legislation now before Congress. Certainly I have made no statement to that effect nor have I intimated to anyone that I plan any such support."

But since the days of the Democratic convention in 1960, Mr. Johnson has apparently "seen the light" on the political importance of civil rights legislation. Gone are the attacks on the bill as an "effort to set up a police state in the guise of liberty."

The President told Congress on November 27, 1963:

"We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights. It is time now to write the next chapter—and to write it in the book of the law."

Thus was the present, strongest-of-all civil rights bills introduced to Congress.

Less Buying Power

The passage of the Senate bill designed to cut income taxes in certain brackets is correctly labeled an administration victory. It remains to be seen if it will prove a victory for the taxpayer.

It sounds encouraging — if it may be assumed that the economy will rest easy in other areas. That is, the lower end of the tax structure will see a rate drop from 18 to 14 per cent. A family of four with an annual income of $10,000 will note a tax reduction of roughly $220.

But will it actually put the family in question ahead by that amount of money? Several factors will take much of the literal truth out of this seemingly bright outlook.

There's inflation for one thing. Slowly the cost of living is spiraling upward. The dollar's value is decreasing. It won't "stay put" as the saying goes while anybody's taxes are cut. And inflation is so merciless until it doesn't recognize any difference between money set aside for taxes and take-home pay. It hits everything.

One reason behind inflation is the wage-price spiral. Its maneuvers take place in the more industrial areas, but its forces are nation and worldwide. Wages go up from pressures from organized labor. So prices are boosted by management in order to maintain a necessary margin of profit.

But federal deficit spending is also guilty in the inflation picture. President Johnson has managed to reduce the federal budget from $98.4 billion down to $97.9 billion. But there is still a deficit. The one for fiscal 1964 was pegged at $10 billion and the administration's 1965 budget at half that or $5 billion. But these are added together—not subtracted—when the public debt is considered.

This increase in the public debt causes 11 cents of every dollar paid

Hardly A Bargain

In this era of "useful" high level talks, it's easy to lose perspective in the cold war.

For example, the Russians might suggest that they would pull a company of soldiers out of East Berlin if the Americans would send a company of their men back to the United States from West Berlin.

On the surface, this supposition seems fair enough. The Soviets might even offer to break precedent and let us observe the full Russian company board trucks and drive off to the east. This would make the U. S. politicians invited to the scene look strong and dignified back home.

But those Russian troops could get their part of the bargain finished by driving at most the distance of several hundred miles into Russia. If we know Russian strategy, they'd probably drive outside the city limits of East Berlin into communist-ruled East Germany and stop.

But the United States troops would retreat 4,000 miles or more back to the States.

This situation is now being faced at Geneva in regards to nuclear arms on foreign territory. The Soviets want both sides to withdraw all such weapons from foreign soil. But even if the Soviet Union lived up to such a proposal, all of western Europe would be left wide open to a Red missile attack, while the United States would be left holding onto its inter-continental missiles thousands of miles away.

It is impossible to sink in the Great Salt Lake of Utah, but the buoyant water tends to lift a swimmer's feet higher than his head.

South Mountain Park, Phoenix, is the nation's largest city-owned park. It has 15,000 acres.

Exchange Of Views Throws Doubts On Burton's Visa

The highly thorny problem of what to do about the increasingly explosive clamor for revocation of the visa granted British actor Richard Burton is now in the hands of two key Cabinet members.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Attorney General Robert Kennedy have been directed by the White House to come up with an answer to this disturbing bombshell—which is flooding both Congress and the White House with the heaviest deluge of mail in months.

This backstage Cabinet "crisis" was precipitated by letters sent Rusk and Kennedy by the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration, headed by Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., demanding revocation of Burton's visa.

Copies of these forceful letters also were sent to President Johnson. He lost no time in letting Rusk and Kennedy know he wanted speedy action.

RUSK ALSO has asked for a compilation on Burton and his still-married "fiancee" Liz Taylor.

At Rusk's orders, Abba Schwartz, chief of the Bureau of Consular & Security Affairs, cabled U.S. officials in London, Paris, Rome, Mexico and Canada for all information in their files concerning the couple and their activities.

Further, at direct White House behest, Rusk set up a "review board" to consider Burton's visa. Its decision is to be promptly conveyed to the White House.

There are two reasons behind the President's concern:

One is the unmistakable evidence of widespread indignation at the granting of a visa to Burton. This was done while he was in Mexico recently filming a movie. The visa is for six months, to enable him to appear in "Hamlet" in Boston in mid-March and then in New York. The White House clearly does not want to be embarrassed by this queasy affair.

THE OTHER reason is that Representative Feighan, in the forefront of the demand for cancelling of the visa, also is chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Immigration that has jurisdiction over the administration's bill for extensive revision of the immigration laws. In this capacity, the Ohioan is in a strategic position to determine the fate of the far-reaching legislation.

Feighan is leaving no doubt he is firmly bent on forcing a showdown on Burton's visa.

In addition to the blunt letters to Secretary Rusk and Attorney General Kennedy, Feighan has requested the State Department to supply his subcommittee with a full transcript of Mrs. Burton's divorce proceedings against the actor. This record is to be made a part of the committee's hearings.

In the letter to Rusk, Feighan stressed that under the law it is squarely up to the State Department to decide what should be done about Burton's visa.

"There is no question, in my opinion," wrote Feighan, "about the Department of State having the exclusive authority by law to revoke the visa issued to Richard Burton. Congress intended that the basic question of eligibility to receive a visa be sharply separated from any and all involvement with the question of admissibility after a visa was granted and the visa holder presented himself at a port of entry into the United States."

Feighan also sharply reminded Rusk that other matters besides law are involved in this case, foremost among them

"the moral tone of our nation." "IT IS, I believe," said Feighan, "generally conceded that the break-up of families and the public glorification of crime and immorality are major contributing causes to the staggering increase of crime and delinquency in the United States. When these two causative factors are dominant in a single case, and when all the sordid details of that case are propagated through mass media, the results are painfully evident. One cannot escape the conclusion that the constant flaunting of immoral behavior by widely publicized public figures creates in the minds of many the false concept that immorality is a public virtue."

"My office has been deluged with letters, telegrams and telephone calls from all parts of the country expressing indignation about this case. This correspondence is running more than 40 to one in favor of barring Richard Burton from admission into the United States. Many of the letters are written by parents of teen-aged children, pouring out their concern over the depraved example of public conduct set by Richard Burton and the trying problems of parents who strive to rear their children to be decent, law abiding adults and citizens."

In the letter to Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Feighan asserted that the Burton-Taylor case "has a direct and important bearing on our government's efforts to stem the rising tide of delinquency and crime throughout the country."

"It is, I believe," Feighan continued, "generally conceded that the break-up of families and the public glorification of crime and immorality are major contributing causes to the staggering increase in delinquency and crime. When these two causative factors are dominant in a single case, and when all the sordid details of that case are propagated through the mass media of our country, not to mention Europe, the end results are painfully evident."

SYLVIA PORTER

World's Fair Seen As Solid Project

A long four years ago, when New York's billion-dollar World Fair was just being organized one of its backers bought a big chunk of the Fair's 5 per cent notes maturing Aug. 1, 1966, and promptly gave the notes to charity.

"I felt I should help finance the Fair because the whole city would benefit from its existence," he said the other day. "But I couldn't see these notes as anything but a wild speculation. So I got a tax deduction and figured the charity would be helped by whatever the Fair paid off on its notes."

On Apr. 22 the biggest fair in all history will open at Flushing Meadows — on time. By then, around 10 million tickets will have been sold, marking the largest advance ticket sale ever. By then, even the revised estimate of an awesome 80 million visitors to the Fair in 1964-65 may appear conservative!

SO TODAY, to the astonishment of everyone — except possibly New York's masterbuilder and Fair President Robert Moses — the World Fair's notes are shaping up as solid investments. It is probable that:

The $35 million loaned to the Fair Corp. by individuals and banks will be paid off dollar for dollar — possibly by the end of 1964. In sharp contrast, New York's 1939-40 Fair paid back only 32 cents on the dollar, was a financial disaster for its backers.

The $24 million put up by New York City for permanent park improvements will be repaid in full by the Fair's end in October 1965.

The Fair Corp. will wind up with a surplus which could total $33 million or more. The non-profit Fair Corp. will use this money to restore and turn Flushing Meadows into one of the world's most beautiful city parks — thereby fulfilling Moses' most cherished dream — and to apply to educational purposes.

Everything about this fair has been spectacular from the start — and, although public relations specialist Thomas J. Deegan Jr. is now spearheading an unparalleled campaign of publicity and promotion for the Fair, much of the ballyhoo is warranted. Within a 646-acre horseshoe-shaped area will be 200 pavilions and exhibitions representing 51 nations, 350 companies, 24 states. The offerings will range from Michelangelo's Pieta to Mastro Piza. Even in these pre-opening weeks of mud, slush and snow, the buildings are eye-stopping, the exhibitions promise a combination of excitement, entertainment and education beyond that ever assembled at any fair.

BUT THIS sort of stuff is the heart of the ballyhoo. The untold story is that this extravaganza is likely to be the most colossal financial success since London started world fairs more than a century ago. How come?

First, the Fair itself is putting up only two structures — an administration and a press building, is employing only 125 workers against thousands employed by the 1939-40 Fair. All the other buildings are being financed by the exhibitors at a cost to them running over a half-billion dollars.

Second, for ground rent, concessions and licenses, the exhibitors are paying the Fair Corp. really big-time money. As an illustration, Ford is paying $8 per sq. ft. for a 305,000-sq. ft. area, meaning this rent alone will bring the Fair almost $2.5 million in 1964-65.

THIRD, THE Fair's ticket policy is tough and as rigid as Robert Moses can make it. Blocks of tickets bought before Mar. 1 cost $1.35 for adults, 67½ cents for children, and after that the prices go to $2 and $1. Moses recently made a minor concession to the under-12 kids for July-August—but he yielded only after a struggle.

A cold-blooded calculation of the Fair Corp.'s 1964-65 income from rents, concessions, licenses and tickets far exceeds the Fair's projected spending.

Despite persistent criticism and carping, the New York Fair has been destined from the beginning to be a cultural, educational and entertainment success. But a financial success too? Yes, this too.

DeGaulle Chooses Awkward Position

One sometimes wonders whether France isn't, after all, merely a base for the greater glory of De Gaulle. How great, after all, can a nation be that sits by while its leader, on whom it has conferred omnipotence, harnesses it to a set of deadly clichés about neutralism in the conflict between Communism and civilization?

For a while it appeared as though De Gaulle's struggle for independence from the American orbit issued from a quiet but well justified despair over the ineptitude of American leadership. Now it appears that his vision is not to capture the leadership in the struggle against the Communists — many Americans, surveying our records, might gladly have elected De Gaulle as Secretary of State—but to interpose France as a third force beyond the meaning given to that term in the immediate postwar years. The 3rd force of De Gaulle is taking shape as a force which does not distinguish between the nature of the other two forces, but rather treats them, in Newsweek's term, simply as "rival ideologies."

ANY SUCH third force will be effectively satelized by the Communists, precisely on account of the nature of the other two. The Communists' concern is to attack us, ours is to defend ourselves: what is the organic role of a third force under the circumstances? Obviously not to help the attacker attack. But, as obviously, to help the defender defend; presumably up to the point where the defender becomes the attacker, in which event the third force changes positions and defends the former attacker from being attacked.

But consider the concrete application of the role of the third force. At the present moment the defenders are harassed all over the world, and are having to fight actively to defend themselves. As the third force coalesces, from which side does it drain away resources and morale? Obviously from the side of the defenders. De Gaulle's third force is not diminishing the resolve of the Vietcong guerrillas to bury South Vietnam. It is not beckoning to North Vietnam to cease its aggressions. It is not inducing Red China to compromise its differences with Free China. The effect, then, of any third force constructed on this side of the Iron Curtain is to weaken, relatively, the defenders; a politico-military deduction which, one would think, a second lieutenant could follow, let alone a general.

AS ALWAYS when one takes indefensible positions, one invokes the rhetoric of higher justification. De Gaulle, at his last press conference, spoke frequently of "reality," of "recognizing the world as it is"—and proceeded to undermine reality, which consists precisely, now as when Socrates first said it did, in seeing things as they are. And things as they are argue for Western unanimity on all points of contact with the enemy, and well before the brinks are reached. It is true that De Gaulle sided with Kennedy at the showdown over Cuba, but also true that he had practically no alternative than to do so. It is much harder to side with the United States when the engagements are less apocalyptic, as in the dreary guerrilla action in South Vietnam, and the eternal struggle to sustain the morale of the freedom forces outside China (can't De Gaulle understand that the Chinese too are entitled to their Cross of Lorraine?).

IT WAS appropriate that De Gaulle should have terminated his statement by saying that with the intervention of his third force diplomacy, the world could move another step towards "the rendezvous that France gave to the universe 175 years ago, that of liberty, equality, and fraternity." His obeisance was towards that bloody, anarchical revolution of the Jacobins, the meaning of which Edmund Burke penetrated when he wrote, 174 years ago, of its "fanatical spirit." That was the same revolution that Gibbon called the "French disease." Maybe that is what De Gaulle, with his rationalistic absorption with third forces, and his Machiavellian unconcern for the moral meaning of the great game being played, continues to suffer from. Is he now carrying the French Revolution forward, as Burke feared the Jacobins would, "straight forward to its end, unappalled by peril, unchecked by remorse, despising all common maxims, and all common means?"

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Woman Beset By Fears, Worries

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: I am full of fears! I read with interest your recent column in which you replied to a Mrs. S. who asked about her fears.

I have more than my share. Here are a few: fear of crowds; fear of having my purse snatched; fear of leaving my house key at home and not locking the door; fear of strangers; fear of riding in airplanes; fear of needles; of physicians and dentists; of lightning; of moths; of drowning, therefore I'm afraid to learn to swim; fear of taking a blood test. What I would like to know is there any cure for these fears?—Mrs. R.

Comment: I have no suggestions except to say that most of the fears you have are normal anxieties. What makes them abnormal in your case is a little, you have so many of them. The fear of being stuck by a needle for a blood test, of a visit to the doctor, of riding in a plane, of lightning, of having forgotten to lock the door, etc.; such are not uncommon in perfectly adjusted persons.

In your case you have so many, I wouldn't know where to begin to eradicate them. Perhaps a long talk with your family doctor will help. Reassurance always helps a little, anyway. I don't believe, however, that you need psychiatric treatment. Of course, your own doctor will have to decide that. Write to me in care of this paper for my leaflet, "How To Be a Happy Hypochondriac." Enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: A miracle has happened to me. I hope you reprint this to give others encouragement.

For 27 years I was "house-bound" by fears. They were so great that if I went more than a few blocks from home I would lose all sense of orientation. I would get flashing sensations in my eyes and barely see and be in great panic.

This fear of mine (I was about 28 when it started) nearly ruined our lives. I spent much money on doctors but received no help. All they told me was to stop worrying. It was only my nerves. I continued in mental agony and it shadowed the lives of my husband and children. I couldn't engage in their activities or participate in fun.

THREE YEARS ago my son was going to be married and I didn't know how I could ever make the wedding some distance away. I explained my fears to a new doctor and he thought I ought to have the benefit of tranquilizers. I went to the wedding and all was well, no panic or loss of orientation.

Since then, taking three every day, I have led a normal life and enjoy taking trips with my husband. In the past I had to go some place I always turned it down the last minute. Now everything looks wonderful and I enjoy the scenery. Thank God for an understanding husband and a doctor who tried to help. No one knows what a hell on earth fears can cause unless he has suffered this curse. — Mrs. T.

Comment: Tranquilizers are not the answer to all nervous problems. However, too many patients continue to suffer because they have got it into their heads that taking such medicine is like taking dope. So they continue to suffer needlessly. If your doctor recommends a tranquilizer, you may gain much by cooperating.

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: I am in my 80s, have a good appetite and sleep well, but my feet and ankles swell up during the day and are normal-sized after a good night's rest. What is the cause?—Mrs. S.

Comment: Has your doctor checked your heart?

Johnson wound up by saying: "We cannot expect perfection in an imperfect world, nor can we expect complete agreement among the world's free men."

"Freedom prospers through the fair discussion of honest difference. Both at home and abroad we welcome such discussion."

"But neither at home nor abroad is there any need for twisted arguments that would damage the good name of our country."

"The American people have little sympathy for those abroad who seek political gain from baseless denunciation of the United States, and they will equally reject such tactics when employed at home."

Johnson made no effort to identify or pinpoint the targets he was aiming at.

But differences among men of the free world have been highlighted by U. S. concern over France's recognition of Red China and Britain's insistence on trading with Cuba.

And at home, Republican politicians have begun a drumfire against the way Johnson has handled foreign policy, as well as some domestic affairs.

The President assured his St. Louis audience that:

"We can be confident that our principles are sound and our progress is good."

"That those who distort the truth to alarm the people—either at home or abroad—about our capacity or our purpose will not fulfill their ambitions."

"And that this nation, more respected than ever before by friend and foe, by the great and the small, will do its full part to achieve in our time a world without war in a century of peace."

Johnson said these were prophetic words, but then, in current times, the blight that has defaced many cities struck this one. The city, he said, shows progress and not decay, and that "a new spirit of St. Louis was born."

American cities are in crisis, Johnson said, with problems of traffic, air pollution, transport, schools, law enforcement, taxes, slums, and the flight to the suburbs. Johnson said the federal government stands ready to help every city to provide for its children decent neighborhoods, schools, parks and playgrounds.

But the larger task, he said, is to help build a healthier world community.

The President said that from West Berlin to Cuba, the nation has been able to meet each new conflict and crisis with courage and calm because of a vast, rapid increase in its nuclear and conventional military strength.

He said that disputes between U. S. friends and allies, in Cyprus, Malaysia, Africa, Kashmir or the Middle East "tend to weaken free world cooperation and invite Communist exploitation."

The President called America "a partisan of peace," and said "it is in our interest" to "work patiently with our friends" toward just solutions to any disputes.

Texas Okays Dam Project For 2 States

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The proposed $60 million Toledo Bend dam and hydro-electric complex in East Texas Friday moved a step closer to reality as the Texas Water commission approved the state's share of the costs.

Texas and Louisiana each will pay $15 million. Three private power firms will underwrite the other $30 million.

The 8,600-foot-long dam will be across the Sabine River just about 75 miles north of Orange. It will impound 4.5 million acre-feet of water in Texas and Louisiana. Two turbines will generate 80,000 kilowatts of energy.

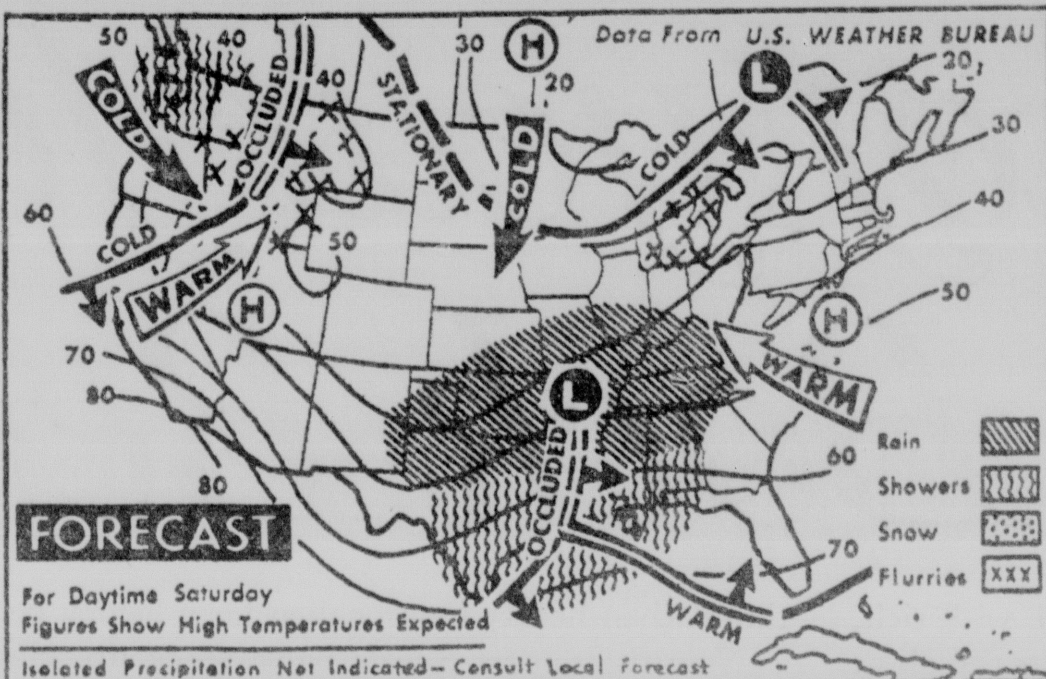

Officials of the Sabine River Authority told the commission initial construction contracts may be let in March. Tentative completion date of the project is May, 1968.

Friday's action empowers the Texas Water Development Board to invest $15 million toward construction of the dam. Authority spokesmen said the Louisiana money will be available by the time it is needed.

John W. Simmons of Orange, general manager of the authority, said the commission's approval marked a significant step forward.

Simmons noted that contractual arrangements call for three power companies to pay the authority $90 million over a 50-year period in return for electricity they will distribute from the dam.

He said the power sales agreement, also approved Friday by the commission, was unprecedented in regard to the protection the authority will have over

The Swiss Embassy confirmed that an embassy representative had talked to Nosenko and that Nosenko had said he wanted asylum in the United States.

Sitting in on both interviews was a U. S. State Department representative.

Nosenko "reconfirmed his desire for asylum," Phillips said, "and we are prepared to give him asylum."

The spokesman said the department also delivered to the Soviet Embassy a response to the Soviet note which also answered the Soviet query of Feb. 12 as to "the manner in which Mr. Nosenko presented himself to the U. S. authorities."

He declined to say, pending the arrival of the U. S. reply in Moscow, just how the Soviet defector did come into American hands.

Nosenko originally disappeared Feb. 4 from his Geneva post, and earlier this week the Russians had strongly protested to the Swiss. The Swiss replied that they had not restricted the movements of the Soviet delegate and were not responsible for his whereabouts.

Various cloak-and-dagger aspects of the case remained to be cleared up and Phillips' statement still left some mystery.

The State Department spokesman declined to say just where Nosenko is in the U. S. Capital or where he was interviewed. Nor would he say when the Soviet defector might be made available for questioning by newsmen.

He said he did not anticipate a further announcement concerning Nosenko. About the only other detail he would divulge was that only the unnamed State Department representative—no one from any other U. S. agency—attended the Soviet and Swiss interviews.

U. S. intelligence sources have suggested that Nosenko may prove to be a prize catch in the undercover contest between East and West because of the furor the Kremlin kicked up over his disappearance.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman, beyond confirming that an embassy representative had questioned Nosenko, declined further comment.

But another possibility, not ruled out definitely pending further checking, is that Nosenko might be a double agent really still in Kremlin service.

Some U. S. authorities doubted that Nosenko knew much about Soviet atomic secrets. More likely, they believed, would be an ability to tell about the Soviet secret police setup, and Soviet strategy in the disarmament talks.

In Washington, Moscow, and Geneva, Western sources expressed doubt that the Nosenko case would have any damaging impact on the disarmament negotiations now under way. Phillips said he had no word that the Soviet Union was going to pull out of the Geneva conference.

Major Whitlow celebrates Valentine's Day on Feb. 14, his birthday on Feb. 15, and his wedding anniversary on Feb. 17.

He said that today he will be 31 years old and on Monday he and wife will have been married 18 years. One of the numbers, he added, is true, but declined to say which one.

The only drawback to such an abundance of holidays, according to the major, is that a person is very apt to get only one present for all three occasions.

Fights Sniffles

If you phoned the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce Friday, an unfamiliar voice probably answered.

Unfamiliar or not, it was still Mrs. Evelyn Terrell, the receptionist. She just had a cold.

Fighting back the sniffles, Mrs. Terrell sighed, "They've been asking all day long to speak to Mrs. Terrell. Apparently they can't recognize my voice when I answer the phone."

Suits Occasion

It looked like the St. Valentine's Day Drum and Bugle Corps Friday in the office of West Monroe City Clerk Harold Hill.

By rearrangement, all six of the lady employees turned out in bright red dresses. The shock of the sight they presented was plainly visible in the expressions of residents who dropped by to pay water bills and found themselves face to face with a company of British regulars.

But seriously, all looked very fetching and they showed a lot of imagination in suiting to suit the occasion. The "Redcoats" were Mrs. Floy Kilpatrick, Mrs. W. R. Townsend, Mrs. Sandra Perez, Mrs. Blanche Josey, Mrs. Dorothy Roberts and Miss Connie Nowood.

U.S. Still Trying For Cyprus Calm

Alec Douglas-Home said in London, "We think there may be a danger of civil strife between Greeks and Turks" which might rise into war between those two Atlantic Alliance partners.

In renewed communal fighting on Cyprus, three Turkish Cypriots were reported killed Friday. Greek newspapers charged the United States instigated the rioting as an excuse for moving in either U. S. or Turkish troops.

After Makarios' rejection, Ball flew to Ankara for talks with Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu but declined to give any details other than to call the conversations "truly useful."

The British, who have been trying to keep the Cyprus situation under control since fighting broke out at Christmas time, and the United States would like to see a representative 10,000-man international force on the island. But they do not want it controlled by the U. N. Security Council where a Soviet veto could obstruct action.

Greek Cypriots have been trying to change the constitution in a way the Turks claim would subject them to the will of the Greek majority.

Ball was greeted by wild demonstrations when he was here earlier, but Saturday he arrived by U. S. Air Force jet at a U. S. military airfield in the middle of the night.

He is expected to fly to London later Saturday for an all-out effort there to determine just what can be done in the increasingly perilous situation.

The Turkish troops were reported boarding transports at Iskenderun in case there was any worsening of the crisis. Direct conflict between Greece and Turkey is what Britain and the United States seek to avert at almost any cost.

British and American diplomats have strongly urged Turkey against any intervention.

Informants said Makarios would appeal to the United Nations for a guarantee against Turkish aggression. At U. N. headquarters in New York, Cyprus Ambassador Zenon Rossides said he had alerted Secretary-General U Thant "to the warlike preparations of Turkey," but had not asked for an immediate Security Council meeting.

The Turkish U. N. delegation, for its part, said, "If the atrocities continue, we will be compelled to ask the Security Council to take some action."

Douglas-Home said his talks in Washington with President Johnson had shown there was complete unity between Britain and the United States on how to handle the Cyprus crisis.

A Cypriot government spokesman announced Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou will fly to New York to lay the issue before the Security Council next week.

This is in line with a call by

Burgess Says West Monroe To Get State Loan

West Monroe apparently will receive on loan the $17,500 needed to relocate city water lines from the path of major highway improvements and construction.

"We're not going to let $17,500 stand in the way of letting a $500,000 contract," said Louisiana Highway Director Ray Burgess.

He was referring to bid opening scheduled in Baton Rouge for March 11 on streets connecting the I-20, Highway 80 and Louisiana 134 (the Jonesboro Road).

"We will make the funds available to West Monroe by the time we let the contract," Burgess said.

He said he doubted the state would charge interest, but stressed the department's legal section had not completed details.

"We're doing it (loaning the money) simply to expedite letting the contract," Burgess noted. "This is strictly a loan that has to be paid back."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev a week ago for a settlement by the Security Council and Cyprus itself.

The Western powers would like to keep Soviet hands off Cyprus, which ranks as a British nation. It is smaller than Connecticut and has a population of only 600,000, approximating that of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Britain, Turkey and Greece guarantee the constitution that gave the former British colony independence in 1960 and they have rights by treaty to intervene. Under the Western plan, troops would have been recruited from NATO nations for a force of about 10,000 men.

Proposals by Makarios of constitutional amendments to streamline the central government, which is dominated by Greek Cypriots, set off the bloodshed last Christmas season.

Turkish Cypriots, outnumbered 4:1, opposed the amendments in fear they would lose the minority rights guaranteed by the constitution. These rights include separate legislative chambers to run strictly communal affairs.

A Turkish Cypriot leader in Ankara has urged Turkey to invade Cyprus because of clashes which resulted in a number of Turkish Cypriot casualties.

Fighting developed in two western towns Friday. A government spokesman said two Turks were killed in Polis. Greek Cypriot police in Paphos reported one Turk dead there.

But in Limassol, where a shaky cease-fire ended three days of shooting in which Greek Cypriots used a war surplus tank and armored bulldozers, all was reported quiet. British troops patrolled the town.

The British said 16 Turks and one Greek died in Limassol and 35 Turks were wounded. The number of Greek injured was not known.

Local Officers Probe Burglary At Law Office

Little activity was noted Friday by any of the Twin City law enforcement agencies.

Under investigation by the Monroe police department is the burglary of Pipes and Pipes law office, 316 S. Grand St. Thursday night. W. F. Pipes Sr., who reported the incident, said that a glass in the rear door was broken out. An account of missing items was not available.

William Riley Jr. reported to Monroe police that someone had damaged his car Thursday night. He told officers that he parked the auto in his yard at 2816 Jackson Street about 11:15 p.m. and removed the keys. Friday morning he found the car badly scratched as though "it had been driven through a barbed wire fence."

Monroe police are investigating a lost moneybag reported by Zeke Haddad, 3601 Cypress St., West Monroe. Haddad told officers that one of his employees had left his shoe shop at 106 N. 2nd St. Friday afternoon with about $30-$40 in a blue moneybag, and reportedly lost the container.

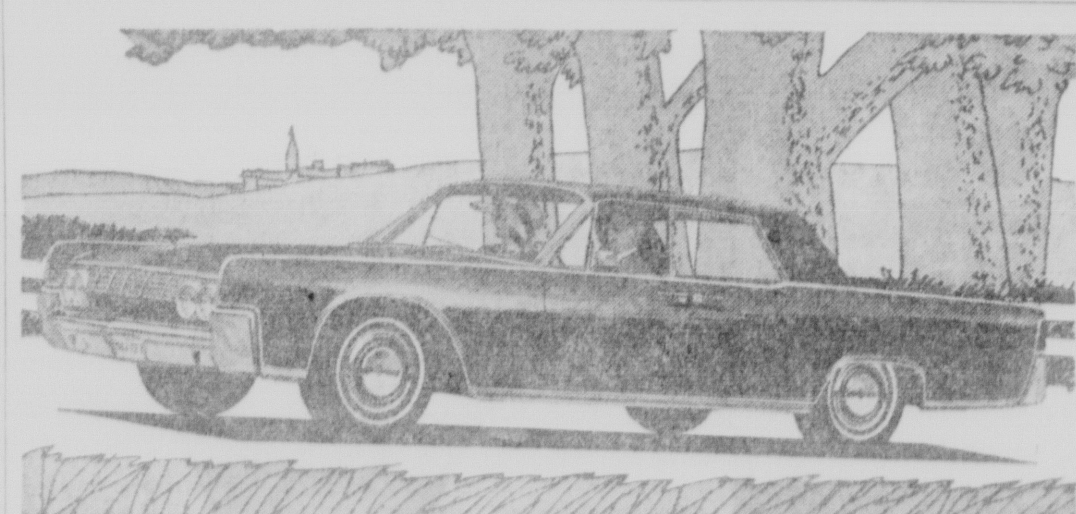

Booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving by Monroe police was James P. Gray, 46, Negro, 1601 Olive St., who was apprehended at 10:05 p.m. Thursday at N. 18th and Glenmar streets.

West Monroe police booked Delton E. Rodgers, 59, Rt. 2, Farmerville, on DWI charges, after he was picked up at 10:15 p.m. Friday on N. 7th street.

IN A SENSE.

The Continental is a costly car initially, of course. But, because of its superb engineering, it almost never requires servicing. And, because Continental has retained its basic, classic styling, its resale value is understandably quite high. No wonder, then, that more than half of those who buy in this price range choose Continental. Can you think of a more satisfying way to practice economy?

Two Sentenced To Prison For Simple Burglary

Two men were sentenced to nine years in the state penitentiary for simple burglary by Judge Mack E. Barham in Fourth District Court Friday.

J. B. Jennings, 3104 Richmond St., Monroe, and David Bradford, Georgetown, both pleaded guilty to burglary of the Package Store on Winnsboro Road.

Jennings also received five years on a second count of simple burglary, with the terms to run concurrently.

Judge Jesse S. Heard handled several cases in another session of district court.

Sentenced to five years in Angola for simple robbery were Will Carter, Negro, No. 6 Ross Alley, Monroe, and Tommy Lee Blockson, Negro, Monroe.

John Lewis Richard Jr., 3103 Gayton St., Monroe, was sentenced to a five-year prison term for theft of property valued at $721.54.

Richard Bennett Scott, 19, 1108 S. 4th St., Monroe, received five years for simple burglary plus two years on each of two counts of theft, with all three terms to run concurrently.

In other court action, Clarence H. Adams, 607 Alabama St., Monroe, was found not guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Bond was called on George W. Myers Jr., 3808 Lee Ave., charged with DWI and no driver's license.

Fined $300 and costs for DWI were Huston West, 215 Pecanview, Minden; Victor Adams, 115 Blanks St., West Monroe; A. J. Beasley, alias A. J. Jones, 209 S. 1st St., Monroe; and Lola Mae Audis, P. O. Box 1039, West Monroe. Adams, Beasley, and Audis woman were also sentenced to 125 days in Ouachita Parish jail for being second offenders.

Heart Surgery Saves 2 Sicily Island Brothers

Two brothers from Sicily Island were given another lease on life recently when heart defects suffered by both were corrected in open heart surgery at Ochsner Foundation hospital of New Orleans.

The two, James Ready, 18, and Charles Ready, 20, today have normal hearts after the surgery performed by Dr. Alton Ochsner Jr., and his brother, Dr. John Ochsner and a team of surgeons.

The boys' widowed mother, Mrs. Flora Ready, had been told that the elder boy could drop dead any minute and the younger son wouldn't live to be 21.

Dr. Alton Ochsner explained that the major valve leading from Charles' heart to his aorta was obstructed, while James was born with two defects. Doctors discovered that in his case, the veins which normally come back from the lungs to the left side of the heart were connected to the right side of the heart instead, and an opening was found in the septum, upper chamber of the heart.

Mrs. Ready explained that the elder son had difficulty with his heart for many years, and the condition was discovered in the younger boy about 18 months ago. She said at first she was unable to obtain hospital tests at the Charity hospital in New Orleans because of her hospitalization policy, but when the tests were actually begun in a private hospital in Texas, the insurance company canceled the policies.

She added that the Louisiana Heart Association gave her the needed help in obtaining appointments for her in the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans. "I just hope that some mother whose children have heart trouble will be helped some from learning about how my children have been helped," she said.

Dr. Ochsner commented that "I'm interested in the dividends that have been brought about by Heart Fund Dollars. These two operations and others like them are examples."

Woman Seeking Write-In Spot For Governor

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Mrs. Cecilia M. Pizzo, New Orleans, filed suit here Friday in an effort to insure that she will be a write-in candidate for governor of Louisiana.

The suit named Mrs. Gen. Jack Gremlion, Secretary of State, Wade O. Martin, and Douglas Fowler, state custodian of voting machines.

Mrs. Pizzo claims 29 Louisiana clerks of court rejected her qualification papers since Gremlion ruled write-in candidates must sign a non-Communist affidavit when they qualify.

A hearing is scheduled on the suit before Dist. Judge Coleman Lindsey Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Pizzo seeks to be a candidate in the March 3 general election.

Her suit seeks a court order to direct Gremlion, Fowler and Martin to "do all things necessary within the scope of their individual official duties" to permit her to become qualified.

She also seeks an injunction to prohibit any interference with her candidacy and an order to direct Gremlion to rescind his Jan. 25 opinion which said she was not qualified.

Gremlion ruled write-in candidates must file affidavits declaring they are not subversive persons and the affidavits must be filed before the Jan. 21 deadline for write-in qualification.

Mrs. Pizzo said she had not filed such an affidavit and the ruling had the effect of ruling her out.

Mrs. Pizzo claims she visited the offices of Gremlion and Martin Dec. 27 to request information and advice on her candidacy to insure full compliance with all relative laws.

J. W. LUCAS, above, has been named new manager of the Shainberg store in Eastgate to replace Paul Jackson who has been transferred to Memphis. Lucas comes here from Camden, Ark., and has been with the company for more than three years. He was the assistant manager of the Monroe store when it was opened. The Lucas' with their three children reside in North Monroe suburb.

David W. Smith, 19, 912 Rowan St., West Monroe, was fined $100 or 90 days in jail on an illegal weapon charge.

Four persons fined $300 for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages were Chester Edwards, 50, 1712 Cypress St., West Monroe; Guy E. Simms, 41, 106 Peach St., West Monroe; Archie E. Reddin Jr., 27, 629 Tulip St., West Monroe; and Claude W. Barlow, 35, 129 E. St. Claire St., Jackson, Miss.

Those fined for speeding included Godfrey T. Boulware, 41, 1406 Cypress St., $15; Robert L. Williams, 48, 418 Benson St., West Monroe, $15; Robert L. Banks, 22, 201 Fern St., West Monroe, $10; Lynn L. Tidwell, Jr., 1, Downsville, $15; and Norris Sellers, 29, 906 Griffin St., Monroe, $10.

Other cases processed involved minor infractions.

Bus Chartered For Delhi Show

Members of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce have scheduled a chartered bus trip to the Feb. 27 Delhi Stock Show and Sale, according to John Adams, chairman of the agricultural committee.

Adams said the bus will leave the Virginia Hotel at 8:30 a.m. the day of the show and return at 2 p.m. Any member who is interested in the trip may contact the Chamber office to obtain information for making a reservation.

The class, "Field Handling of Natural Gas," will meet in Room 212 and is being held through co-operation of the Ouachita Valley Vocational-Technical School, according to J. S. Clark, coordinator.

Heart Surgery Saves 2 Sicily Island Brothers

Two brothers from Sicily Island were given another lease on life recently when heart defects suffered by both were corrected in open heart surgery at Ochsner Foundation hospital of New Orleans.

The two, James Ready, 16, and Charles Ready, 20, today have normal hearts after the surgery performed by Dr. Alton Ochsner Jr., and his brother, Dr. John Ochsner and a team of surgeons.

The boys' widowed mother, Mrs. Flora Ready, had been told that the elder boy could drop dead any minute and the younger son wouldn't live to be 21.

Dr. Alton Ochsner explained that the major valve leading from Charles' heart to his aorta was obstructed, while James was born with two defects. Doctors discovered that in his case, the veins which normally come back from the lungs to the left side of the heart were connected to the right side of the heart instead, and an opening was found in the septum, upper chamber of the heart.

Mrs. Ready explained that the elder son had difficulty with his heart for many years, and the condition was discovered in the younger boy about 18 months ago. She said at first she was unable to obtain hospital tests at the Charity hospital in New Orleans because of her hospitalization policy, but when the tests were actually begun in a private hospital in Texas, the insurance company canceled the policies.

She added that the Louisiana Heart Association gave her the needed help in obtaining appointments for her in the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans. "I just hope that some mother whose children have heart trouble will be helped some from learning about how my children have been helped," she said.

Dr. Ochsner commented that "I'm interested in the dividends that have been brought about by Heart Fund Dollars. These two operations and others like them are examples."

J. DODD BROOKS, Neville's junior forward, seems to be losing possession of the ball here but he came up with it as three Jonesboro players look on. Brooks scored 15 points and Neville defeated Jonesboro 71-59 to throw the 2-A A title.

WHITE BEFORE OPTIMISTS

Northeast's Texan Jokes About Texas And Football

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

The Monroe Optimists Club, an organization which prides itself on being the lighter side of athletics, came up with a real one here Friday: a Texan with a sense of humor about Texas.

Dixie E. White, the new head coach and athletic director at Northeast State College and also a native of Texas, informed the club during its regular weekly meeting that "A Texan is just a Mexican on his way to Oklahoma."

Anything that he had been away long enough to lose some of the natural pride his people had in their state, White said he felt pretty sure there wouldn't be a Texas back in the Alamo had had a bad day instead of just a front door.

White, main speaker for the meeting, said he had been told he could make a formal talk, an informal chat or nothing at all depending on how he felt.

"It reminded me," he said, "of the number who at a church in a rural Texas community where no preacher had ever managed to stay more than a few months."

Much to the main's surprise he not only lasted a year, but was requested to return. Going back determined to find out why, he asked an old timer for the answer. "Well, son, the old man told him, 'We didn't want nothing to do with you, but you're the closest we've come to finding it.'"

Turning away from Texas, but not the humor, White told the Optimists he was quite happy with his new football staff. "We kept two people from the old staff," he said. "One of them is Leon Manley, who will be the defensive line coach. Coach Manley weighs about 265 and played for the Green Bay Packers. Actually, we kept Leon because we needed somebody to do our fighting."

White, who is pretty hunky himself, added, "I figure Leon and I can whip any one person in town."

The other person retained is George Luffey, who will handle the offensive line. "Anybody we can't whip, Coach Luffey will have to talk out of fighting," White said. "He ought to do a good job. He really gets around. I guess everybody in the state has heard of George Luffey."

White also expressed confidence in his two new assistants, Wallace Hargon and Ralph Lane.

Lane, who will coach the defensive backs, was recommended to White by Louisiana State assistant Doug Hamley after the two had worked together at LaGrange. "I knew Lane at Donham Springs," White said, "and I was very impressed by him."

Hargon will coach the offensive backs and comes from Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, Miss., where he was head coach and Chamberlain Hunt Military Academy in Port Gibson, Miss., where he was athletic director.

White said he had no intention of tearing down Northeast's other athletic programs but wanted them all to progress.

"Our track team for example," he said, "has just about run itself out of a schedule. Other teams don't want to come here."

While at the University at Washington he was a physical education major and plans to do some coaching this spring.

"I'll be doing it for my old high school coach," he explained, referring to Henry Thompson of Seattle's Shoreline High.

"I'll look at films and make comments about his vaulters," he said.

"But I want to get away from it now. I think I've learned enough. I have no reason to be here. I'll always be like this. I'm still looking for a full recovery."

al standing into a tie between the two clubs for first place. The Jonesboro players immediately rejoined Brooks and White. "There's no sense in being proud of it," Brooks said.

After the game, Brooks and White, who had been in a friendly rivalry since they were both in high school, shook hands and hugged.

Neville hit 45 per cent of its shots and Smith led with 54. He also picked off 17 rebounds. Brooks was next with 10 rebounds and he had 15 points. Garrett was Neville's fourth man in double figures with 11.

JACKETS WIN 62-51

Byrd Pressed To Top Lions

Onechita's fighting Lions gave highly-regarded Byrd of Shreveport all they wanted — and then lost it this season.

The Lions "B" team, upped its season mark to 12-3 by toping the young Jackets 54-50. The Lions led 13-11 after the first quarter and were behind only one point at halftime as a "diamond" zone setup by Coach L. J. Fontenot kept Byrd's scorers, Terry Smith, in check most of the game.

Onechita was still very much in the game until the final three minutes when Byrd pulled away. With a little more than three minutes left in the contest Onechita trailed Byrd four points, but had the ball. However, the Lions missed their shot and Byrd came up with a couple of quick baskets to race away.

Doug Howell, who led Onechita with 20 points on 10 fielders, and Dennis Crawley who got 12 points sparked the Lions' first half performance.

The two seniors accounted for 11 of Onechita's first quarter 13 points. Howell had six and Crawley five. Howell hit three more buckets in the second quarter as Onechita stayed in contention.

As was the case against Bastrop earlier this week, Onechita had an excellent half but fell off in the other. The Lions hit a respectable 45 per cent in the initial half against Byrd but could muster only a 22 per cent total in the last two frames.

Rod McGuire led the Yellow Jacket offense with 16 points. George Graham got 15 and Smith, who is averaging near 24 points, managed 14. Onechita used a four man zone defense and kept a chaser on Smith. Don Corbin guarded Smith most of the first half, before giving way to foul trouble, and limited the high-scoring whiz to four field goals.

Little Wally Rugg took over in the second half and Smith hit only one field goal.

Onechita will travel to Woodlawn next Tuesday night.

Tim Terrall's 24 points led the winners into a playoff with Oak Grove which defeated LaSalle of Olla, 64-40, Friday night.

Daniel McCarty was the Caldwell power with 15 points but the scoring area left the game on a tie in the crucial fourth quarter.

Northeast's Texan Jokes About Texas And Football

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

The Monroe Optimists' Club, an organization which prides itself on seeing the lighter side of athletics, came up with a real gem here Friday — a Texan with a sense of humor about Texas.

Dixie B. White, the new head coach and athletic director at Northeast State college and also a native of Texas, informed the club during its regular weekly meeting that, "A Texan is just a Mexican on his way to Oklahoma."

Admitting that he had been away long enough to lose some of the natural pride his people had in their state, White said he felt pretty sure there wouldn't be a Texas today if the Alamo had had a back door instead of just a front door.

White, main speaker for the meeting, said he had been told he could make a formal talk, an informal chat or nothing at all, depending on how he felt.

"It reminded me," he said, "of the minister who got a church in a rural Texas community where no preacher had ever managed to stay more than a few months. Much to the man's surprise he not only lasted a year, but was requested to return. Going back determined to find out why, he asked an old-timer for the answer. 'Well, son,' the old man told him, 'We didn't want nothing to start with, and you're the closest we've come to finding it.'"

Turning away from Texas, but not the humor, White told the Optimists he was quite happy with his new football staff. "We kept two people from the old staff," he said. "One of them is Leon Manley who will be the defensive line coach. Coach Manley weighs about 265 and played for the Green Bay Packers. Actually, we kept Leon because we needed somebody to do our fighting."

White, who is pretty husky himself, added, "I figure Leon and I can whip any one person in town."

The other person retained is George Luffey who will handle the offensive line. "Anybody we can't whip, Coach Luffey will have to talk out of fighting," White said. "He ought to do a good job. He really gets around. I guess everybody in the state has heard of George Luffey."

White also expressed confidence in his two new assistants, Wallace Hargon and Ralph Lane. Lane, who will coach the defensive backs, was recommended to White by Louisiana State assistant Doug Hamley after the two had worked together at La Grange. "I knew Lane at Denham Springs," White said, "and I was very impressed by him."

Hargon will coach the offensive backs and comes from Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, Miss., where he was head coach and Chamberlain Hunt Military Academy in Port Gibson, Miss., where he was athletic director.

White said he had no intention of tearing down Northeast's other athletic programs but wanted them all to progress.

"Our track team for example," he said, "has just about run itself out of a schedule. Other teams don't want to come here

Northeast Coach Will Speak For Newellton Fete

NEWELLTON (Special) — Dixie White, head football coach and athletic director at Northeast State College, will be the featured speaker for the annual Newellton football banquet to be held Friday, Feb. 21.

Newellton Booster Club president Edwin Preis made the announcement concerning the fete which will honor members of the team and coaches of the 1963 championship football club.

The banquet will be held in the high school lunch room beginning at 7:30 p.m.

to compete against Coach Grose. We don't want to stop that. My big job is to get a football team the track team can be proud of.

"Spring football practice will start Monday and probably close March 21. Our spring squad game is tentatively set for then. All of you are invited to come out and lend us moral support — or participate if you like."

"A lot of people have asked about my football philosophy," White said. "It's pretty brief — to win some games."

"Others have asked about passing, they like wide-open football. I like it to, but passing depends on having someone to pass. You don't run the Kentucky Derby with donkeys."

White then listed a number of coaches who had filled the air with passes during their careers. He added that they had all been fired. "One thing I don't intend to do," he said, "is pass myself out of a job."

"As far as kicking is concerned, we don't know yet who will kick — the Alumni probably."

Turning to the new substitution rule, White said he liked it from what he had learned about it in the papers.

"It appears that more boys will get to play this way," he said, "and the more playing the better the morale."

"But, I'm not sure. Last year when we first read the stories on the rule change we thought it was free substitution. Then we found out it wasn't at all. I just wish the newspaper people would be a little more accurate."

BRIAN STERNBERG

Injured Star Attends Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brian Sternberg flew to San Francisco Friday for his first track meet and first trip outside Seattle since July—when a trampoline accident left the record-breaking pole vaulter almost completely paralyzed.

Pleasure and sadness both greeted his arrival.

"The trip was very enjoyable. I felt a lot better than I thought I would," he said to newsmen. But when told that his friend, pole vaulter John Pennel, could not compete in Saturday's Golden Gate Invitational because of a foot injury, Brian sadly lowered his head and said:

"I'm real disappointed to hear that. I was looking forward to seeing John."

Pennel bettered Sternberg's world record last summer.

Brian chatted with reporters from his wheel chair, discussing his fight to get back to leading a normal life.

The 20-year-old youth was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Sternberg, and his girl friend, Nancy McCracken, a student at Seattle Pacific College.

Brian still cannot use his legs but has regained some use of his arms.

"I think I've learned a lot from this that I probably would not have learned otherwise," he said.

"But I want to get away from it now. I think I've learned enough. I have no reason to believe I'll always be like this. I'm still looking for a full recovery."

While at the University of Washington he was a physical education major and plans to do some coaching this spring. "I'll be doing it for my old high school coach," he explained, referring to Henry Thompson of Seattle's Shoreline High.

"I'll look at films and make comments about his vaulters. I

Neville's defending double-A state champions threw the final 2-AA basketball standings into a two-way tie for first place here Friday night before a packed house by defeating Jonesboro-Hodge 71-59.

Neville principal Sidney Seegars said immediately after the game that a playoff for the district title is tentatively set for Thursday night, Feb. 20, at the Louisiana Tech Memorial gymnasium.

Seegars said that Tech athletic director Joe Aillet gave them a tentative okay but definite plans will be mapped out sometime today and will appear in the Morning World Sunday morning.

Joe Canal and Malcolm Smith, a couple of all-stars, provided Neville with the spark it needed against Jonesboro and Coach Benny Hollis' Tigers upped their season mark to 31-3 behind the talented twosome. The victory also helped avenge an earlier loss to Jonesboro, 51-40, suffered a couple of weeks ago at Jonesboro.

The J-H Tigers of Larry Toms now stand 21-4 for the year and both clubs finished league action with 7-1 marks. The loss snapped a 15-game J-H win streak.

Canal finished the contest with 19 points and 13 came in the hectic first half as he repeatedly hit long, looping set shots. The senior guard fired in 10 points in the first quarter when the lead changed hands 12 times and was tied twice.

Smith, Neville's leading scorer with 21 points, was just as effective as Canal but he packed his dazzling exhibition into the final two quarters, giving the Tigers an unbeatable combination.

The "Thin Man" was unstoppable in the last half and served as a one-man wrecking crew. He rebounded superbly, blocked shots and scored 14 points with 11 of them in the fourth quarter when Neville finally pulled away from the hustling Jonesboro team.

After leading 35-21 at halftime and only 48-41 after three stanzas, Smith led a Neville charge that could not be halted.

Jonesboro cut the Neville lead to seven points, 49-42, seconds after the start of the fourth quarter when junior Billy Phillips, probably J-H's most consistent player throughout the game, canned a free toss.

However, here Canal fired in a set shot for a nine point Neville lead. Buddy Stevenson got the two points back for Jonesboro when he flipped in a layup but that was to be the last time the visitors would really be in the game. Smith quickly scored six straight points on a drive, a jump shot and a beautiful hook to give Neville a commanding 11 point advantage, 55-44.

Minutes later, after J. Dodd Brooks and John Garrett had scored fielders, Neville led by 13.

With 2:10 left Neville had its biggest lead of the game as Smith hit for a 17 point advantage. Jonesboro never quit though. Phillips hit a jump shot. Buddy Stevenson got a two-point and a free shot and guard Harry Walker, Jonesboro's high man with 18 points, scored four points to cut the lead to 12 points at the final buzzer.

The local Bengals led only 9-7 after the first quarter, 20-18 at the half and 37-33 after three stanzas before breaking the game open in the final quarter with 19 points while holding Jonesboro to 10.

JACKETS WIN 62-51

Byrd Pressed To Top Lions

Ouachita's fighting Lions gave highly-regarded Byrd of Shreveport all they wanted — and then some—here Friday night before bowing in the final quarter, 62-51.

The Lions led 13-11 after the first quarter and were behind only one point at halftime as a "diamond" zone setup by Coach L. J. Fontenot kept Byrd's ace scorer, Terry Smith, in check most of the game.

Ouachita was still very much in the game until the final three minutes when Byrd pulled away.

With a little more than three minutes left in the contest Ouachita trailed Byrd four points, but had the ball. However, the Lions missed their shot and Byrd came up with a couple of quick baskets to race away.

Doug Howell, who led Ouachita with 20 points on 10 fielders, and Dennis Crawley who got 12 points sparked the Lions' first half performance.

The two seniors accounted for 11 of Ouachita's first quarter 13 points. Howell had six and Crawley five. Howell hit three more buckets in the second quarter as Ouachita stayed in contention.

As was the case against Bastrop earlier this week, Ouachita had one excellent half but fell off in the other. The Lions hit a respectable 45 per cent in the initial half against Byrd but could muster only a 22 per cent total in the last two games.

Rod McGuire led the Yellow Jacket offense with 16 points. George Graham got 15 and Smith, who is averaging near 24 points, managed 14. Ouachita used a four-man zone defense and kept a chaser on Smith.

Don Corbin guarded Smith most of the first half, before giving way to foul trouble, and limited the high-scoring whiz to four field goals.

Little Wally Rugg took over in the second half and Smith hit only one field goal.

Ouachita will travel to Woodlawn next Tuesday night, closing out its 1-AAA competition for this season.

The Lions "B" team upped its season mark to 12-3 by topping the young Jackets 54-50. Joe Bryant and Richard Hill led Ouachita with 15 points and Gillespie had 14 for the visitors.

Suit yourself as to size. Some purses, for extremists, reach the dimensions of an oversized feedbag for horses!

Patriotic Theme Used At Literature Club Luncheon Coffee Honors Texas Visitor In Mer Rouge

A Cherry tree surrounded by white chrysanthemums, flags and a picture of George Washington was the focal point of the luncheon table, when members of the Current Literature Book Club met last Wednesday, February 12 at the Highland Park Country Club.

Highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a slate of officers by the nominating committee. Presented and accepted by acclamation were Mrs. J. M. Gilstrap, president; Mrs. J. H. Walker, vice-president; Mrs. Hurvie Moak, secretary; Mrs. Jerry Robinson, treasurer; Mrs. R. W. Plair, reporter and Mrs. Travis Davis, parliamentarian.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs.

R. W. Plair and Mrs. E. S. Rushing. To carry out the club's patriotic theme for the year, "Our American Heritage," the hostesses used Abraham Lincoln's picture on the place cards.

Mrs. Travis Davis, outgoing president, conducted the short business meeting. Following the acceptance of the new officers, Mrs. Gilstrap appointed the following committees: program, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. A. B. Wilson and Mrs. R. B. Bailey; membership, Mrs. H. W. DEAR ABBY

Cheapest Way Often Least Appealing Way

By Abigail Van Buren.

DEAR ABBY: I made what I thought was a good suggestion and it started a whole family fight. My daughter recently got a diamond ring and plans to be married this summer. My sister's daughter announced her engagement. New Year's Eve, and she plans to be married this summer, too. When I mentioned to the other members of my family that I thought it would be a good idea if the kids got together and had a double wedding, they said if they had to buy TWO wedding presents they expected to go to TWO weddings. And when I explained to my sister that we could save on flowers, music, food, drinks, etc., she said they could afford to put on their own wedding as they weren't in the poorhouse yet. What's wrong with my family? Or is it me? Next time I open my big mouth, I wish somebody would kick me hard.

MEANT WELL.

DEAR MEANT: Your suggestion was motivated by your desire to get as much mileage out of a dollar as possible. So was their reaction. It must run in your family.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful man. He is a European and his first name is difficult, but not impossible, to pronounce. When I introduced him to my mother for the first time she didn't even attempt to pronounce his name. She simply said, "I shall call you John." He smiled, good - humoredly, thinking she was joking but she has been calling him "John" ever since. I know he feels hurt, and I don't blame him. I think it's insulting. Don't you think my mother should learn to pronounce my future husband's name? It has bothered me for several months.

BOTHERED
DEAR BOTHERED: Why the silent burn? Teach your mother to pronounce your fiancé's name, and insist that she address him as such. (P. S. Why doesn't John speak for himself?)

DEAR ABBY: You should have told the Mason's wife, who felt left out because her husband wouldn't share the secrets of the lodge with her, that she and her husband should join the Order of the Eastern Star. It's not ALL secret.

Sincerely,
A MASON IN FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY MAYES

50th Anniversary Party Honors Cadeville Couple

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mayes of the Cadeville Community was celebrated last Sunday, February 9 with an open house in their home on the Eros Road. Mr. and Mrs. Mayes were married on February 8, 1914, the bride being the former Miss Delma Roberts.

Greeting the guests who called between the appointed hours of 2 and 5 p.m., Sunday afternoon were the Mayes' two daughters, Mrs. Clayton Dickerson and Mrs. Herman Dickerson, both of the Cadeville Community. They were assisted by Mrs. Homer Spence, Mrs. Tom Landrum, Mrs. W. C. Sanders and Mrs. C. L. Sullivan who received and displayed the gifts and invited the visitors to sign the guest book, presided over by two nieces, Mrs. Callie Lolley and Mrs. Sallie Neyland.

In the living room a massive arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums on the coffee table and smaller arrangements of yellow roses, snapdragons, stock and greenery carried out the golden anniversary theme. The old fashioned round table in the dining room was covered with a heavy yellow dam-

KING AND QUEEN of the Mardi Gras Ball at the Winnsboro V.F.W. Home last Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. E. Rudolph McIntyre, pictured at right. Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Stephens, left. More than 150 guests attended the ball sponsored by the Garden Gate Garden Club, with Mrs. Glenn Wilbank as general chairman. Mrs. Paul Price is president of the garden club. Proceeds will be used to buy playground equipment for Landis Memorial Park.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Net Covered Sponge Handy All-Work Gadget

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Please tell Mr. and Mrs. America to try wrapping nylon net over their sponges to prolong the life of them and to note how much easier it is to do a better cleaning job of pots, pans, tubs, lavatories, tile, wood or plaster walls, windows, etc., etc., etc.

It is a handy timesaver to have one gadget that will scour as well as wipe up! Oh, yes, also do have the ladies try nylon net - covered sponges when bathing their children. For that matter, all members of the family should try it. The exhilaration derived from using a nylon net-covered sponge while bathing will help them get off to a good, clean, vibrating start on their daily chores.

Thomas Somers, Jr.

Gals, the net may either be pinned on with a few small safety pins or sewn with a needle and thread. I use triple thicknesses of net around my sponges for this purpose.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use decorated clear plastic shower curtains on the window of my sewing room in a daylight basement.

These curtains let in all of the light and still cannot be seen through when I am fitting garments and use the room for dressing. They are also very attractive.

Mrs. T.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Silly girl! Womanly common sense provides the most logical answer to the question "Do the pleats go up or down on a cummerbund?" The pleats are worn "fold" down.

Image a portly fellow sitting at dinner with the pleats up! The folds would serve as a catchall for crumbs, ashes or what have you. I wear one daily, pleats down.

Norman Leamy

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Did you ever try to brush streusel crumbs or cigarette ashes off a cummerbund with der pleats up!

HIMMEL! Vimmin! Dum-kopfs!

Try the unabridged dictionary - might be a picture of one - but no smoker would ever wear the pleats up.

Robert A. Van der Pyl

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Just can't pass this up. Please inform Mr. C. Green that the pleats on his cummerbund go round and round.

However, being an engineer of sorts, I'd say that the pleats should open at the top - the reason being that they form a repository for soup, crumbs, etc.

Benny

All right - so we're all nuts! Heloise

Dear Heloise:

It has been stated in your column that green peppers could have the seeds removed and be placed in the vegetable tray in your refrigerator to keep them from rotting so soon. You were right.

They can also be frozen. I halve mine, de-seed them, wash and wipe them dry. I then cut them in quarters or slices, wrap them in layers of waxed paper and put them in our freezer. When completely frozen the pieces can be put in any kind of container.

The peppers stay in separate pieces and you can take out as much or as little as you need - thus saving more money and you have peppers when you want them.

Doris Neff

Why not lay them out on a cookie sheet, freeze, then bottle? After frozen they won't stick together.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use a string dishcloth for dusting furniture, dustboards, picture frames, windowsills, Venetian blinds and over the doors. Saves using a step stool and avoids the danger of falling.

Mrs. Pearce

MERMAIDS OF '64
Low tide or high tide, the mermaid of '64 will be in the swim with either a blouson, strapless or bikini suit - including tam-e-down versions of the latter. Women's Wear Daily, sifting new swimsuit silhouettes, figures the blouson suit's the one most likely to be seen on all shapes.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, alphabets, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

VOICE OF BROADWAY
By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD... Many of the unanswered questions in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping may not be answered even after the current trial of the alleged kidnapers. Some witnesses who could be regarded as important to the prosecution or the defense have begun to display an unusual shyness about testifying, so the eventual cast of characters may not be as interesting as the naive Man in the Street would expect.

The notes Van Johnson made during his recent hospital seizure would be the basis of a good book — or at least, a magazine article... Noel Coward plays a producer called Sam Meyerheimer — complete with the Riviera home and yacht — in the new movie "Paris When It Sizzles," and a hip Broadway audience that saw a preview the other night had no difficulty identifying the real life chap on whom the character is based.

The statistics on "Dr. Strangelove" are startling. If it does as well in other cities as it has in New York, it will out-gross "The Ten Commandments" and "Ben Hur" as the industry's all-time winners. George C. Scott steals the picture — in fact, he's so good in it he's probably even now composing his letter of refusal to the Academy Award committee... The Beatles are so funny and charming that every one who worked with them on the Ed Sullivan show loved them — including pretty, perky Georgia Brown of "Olivier." The endearing thing about them is the fact that they don't take themselves one bit seriously, but they're enjoying every funny minute of the madness they've caused.

Geordie Hormel, the jazz-loving millionaire, has finally taken the plunge as a recording artist. He did a disc session last week as a vocalist. It was easier for him than it is for most singers breaking into the business; he just formed his own record company and hired Babs Gonzales to produce the date — a very expensive way of having fun.

Julie Andrews has the kind of problem many a young actress would like to have. She and her husband, Tony Walton, finally bought their own house — something she's always wanted — just before she got the offer to come to the United States for "The Americanization of Emily." And it's an historic jewel of a mansion, formerly the home of Lord Russell of Liverpool. Julie could hardly wait to take over, but the scripts and contracts kept pouring in, and now she's scheduled to start "Sound of Music" as soon as she finishes "Emily," so it'll be a long time before she gets around to new slipcovers and other housewifely details in London.

Virginia Ruark appeared at the Chateau Madrid the other night with Ava Gardner, and was quite funny on the subject of reports from Madrid that her ex-husband, writer Robert Ruark, was on the verge of marrying Faye Emerson. One quote: "I went through those same rumors 15 years ago." (Well, some men take longer than others to propose.)

Peter Duchin tells pals that if his summer TV series deal turns out to be lucrative enough, he'll abandon his plan to become an actor on the straw hat circuit this season... Philosophy by Princess Ira Furstenberg: "If there is to be another romance

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

2 Biloxi Airmen Refuse To Waive Extraditions

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Two airmen wanted here in the beating of four members of a Baton Rouge family refused to waive extradition from Mississippi, the office of Sheriff Bryan Clemmons said today.

The airmen facing battery and peace disturbance charges are William Clark Caraway, 18, Baton Rouge, and Dennis J. Buedel, Chicago, Ill., both stationed at Keesler Air Force Base, in Biloxi, Miss.

Two officers with arrest warrants left here to return the two men. Officers of the district attorney and the juvenile bureau also initiated fugitive warrants for the arrest of the two in Mississippi.

Caraway and Buedel were charged in the early Sunday morning attack on the Herman Green family here at the Green home.

Three local teenagers are free on $1,000 bond after being charged in the same incident with simple battery and disturbing the peace.

These are Ron Weiner, 18, D. Kelley Robinson, 19, and Richard Kuhlman, 17, all of Baton Rouge.

10 Are Injured As Truck Slams Into School Bus

NEWTON, Miss., (AP)—A truck-trailer plowed into the back of a school bus near here Friday, injuring 10 white school children.

The highway patrol said two of the children were kept in a hospital for treatment but eight others were treated and released.

The two kept were sisters, Melinda Bauman, 11, and Susan B.

Patrolman W. G. Pace of Newton said the driver of the truck, Donald G. Harvey of Tyler, Tex., was charged with following a school bus too closely.

The accident occurred on Highway 80 at the top of a hill as the bus was slowing to make a left turn.

How To Keep Well

By THEODORE VAN DELLEN

WART REMEDIES

The Russians report using liquid nitrogen to remove warts from the face, hands, and feet. One or two applications are given for those on the face and up to three on the hands. Many more are needed for plantar warts on the soles, according to the story in a recent issue of Medical World News.

We wrote about this method in 1955. Dr. Wayne Wright of Oakland, Calif., analyzed the results of eight different remedies on a group of 451 plantar wart patients. He found liquid nitrogen superior to electrocautery, X-ray, carbon disulfide snow, and the local injection of a variety of substances. Within 36 to 48 hours after applying liquid nitrogen, the wart could be scraped out with a scalpel or a seal blade. The cure rate was 78.7 per cent.

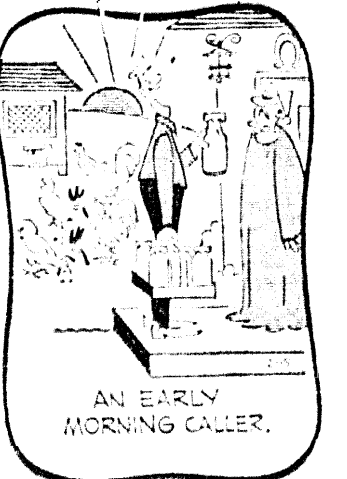

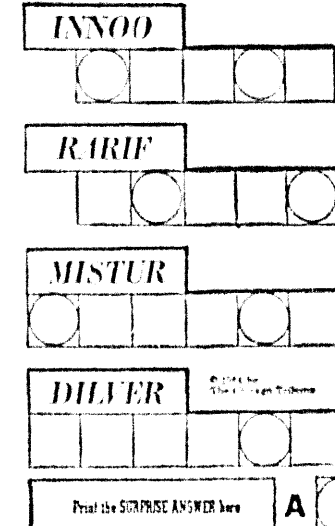

More than a year ago we wrote about the hot water technique. The warts are soaked for an hour or more and the trick is to keep the temperature of the water between 113 and 118 degrees F. Several immersions are necessary. We have not seen a follow-up report on this method but it is harmless and worth trying on youngsters with numerous warts and plenty of time.

The trouble with trying to evaluate these therapies is that warts—or their owners—are so susceptible to suggestion. Warts have disappeared after rubbing with a kernel of corn or a potato peeling, provided the victim is convinced of the magic power of the substance. Good results from more scientific treatments may have the same psychological basis.

The psychic effect is difficult to understand because warts are caused by a virus. They are slightly contagious and prefer areas of skin subjected to injury or prolonged pressure. This may explain why the fingers,

They are more annoying than serious but the tendency is to toy with them until they become irritated or infected. Removal is recommended when they are unsightly or located in an area likely to be irritated.

REDUCING TENSION

M. M. writes: How do tranquilizers help high blood pressure?

Many factors contribute toward raising the blood pressure, enzymes, chemicals such as salt and disturbances of the heart and kidneys. The nervous system also plays a role and it is here that tranquilizers enter the picture by lessening anxiety and

This is one symptom of uncontrolled diabetes and a simple urine test at this stage of the disease will answer the question. Elderly diabetics often are drowsy after breakfast.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 80 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower Friday. Only nearby May showed a loss on a closing bid price.

Nearly March spurred upward on trade covering. Offerings were light, reflecting tightening of free market supply of cotton arising from the record movement of the staple into the government loan this season.

Buying in deferred months was credited mostly to commission house short covering prior to the weekend.

There was some switching between May and July in distant months.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 80 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower Friday.

Only nearby May showed a loss on a closing bid price.

Nearby March spurted upward on trade covering. Offerings were light, reflecting the tightening of free market supply of cotton arising from the record movement of the staple into the government loan this season.

Buying in deferred months was credited mostly to commission house short covering prior to the weekend.

There was some switching between May and July in distant months.

LATE THANK YOU NOTE
RAVENNA, Italy (AP) — In January 1963, Wanda Gadowi lectured on Italian art in Dublin and on Jan. 11, the Irish mailed her a thank you note. She got it one year, one month and two days later. Postal authorities said they were unplussed.
